Students Attend Medical Meeting

Jenny Kirkham, Linda Schwartz, Phil Merk, and Richard Parker, accompanied by Mr. Norman, attended a meeting at Indiana University Medical Center in Indianapolis on April 3 and 4. The purpose of the meeting was to better acquaint the students with various fields of medicine. This was of interest to these students because their future plans include medicine. Jenny plans to study biochemistry; Phil, dentistry; Linda, physical therapy; and Richard, medicine.

The students toured the center and visited several different classes. The first class the group attended was Cardiology, where the students saw and heard on a cardiograph the human heartbeat.

The next place of interest was the Environmental Health Class. The professor stated that this involves the sanitation of the air, the water, food, home surroundings, and waste disposal.

In the Dentistry class, films were shown to the group showing the before and after pictures of human deformations.

At the end of the tour, the students met in a general session where they were given the opportunity to ask questions of a panel of Assistant Deans.

Other classes that were offered to the group, but could not be attended because of lack of time, were Microbiology, Chemistry, Pharmacology, Anatomy, and Pathology.

Jim Anderson Receives Ford Motor Scholarship

'Jim Anderson is shown here in a new Ford Mustang, which just came out this month. Both Jim and Tom Bettler, the scholarship winner from Charlestown, saw this new car at a luncheon at the Ford Plant.

Jim Anderson is the recipient of the highest scholarship ever awarded to a Corydon Central High School student. This four-year scholarship is given by the Ford Motor Company.

On Easter Sunday, Jim received a telegram from Mr. Benson Ford, the president of the Ford Motor Company Fund, stating that Jim was one of the 70 sons and daughters of Ford Company employees selected for the four-year scholarship from more than 1,400 applicants.

This four-year scholarship provides for payment of tuition fees and 80 per cent of the living expenses to a maximum of $750 a year for students away from home and a minimum of $300 a year for students while living at home. The recipient is allowed to go to any college of his choice. Jim is interested in engineering and plans to attend Purdue University this fall, Jim and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe Anderson, were guests at a luncheon honoring area recipients at the Ford Plant in Louisville, Wednesday, April 1.

On June 28, Jim and Tom Bettler, the Ford Fund scholarship winner from Charlestown High School, will fly to Dearborn, Michigan, the headquarters of the Ford Motor Company, to join other scholarship winners from eleven other states for a formal awards conference. They will be the guests of the Ford Motor Company Fund through June 30.

Roger Miller Wins Keller Scholarship

Roger Miller has been announced as the winner of the 1964 $1,000 Keller Scholarship offered to sons of Keller employees. This scholarship provides $400 for the first year in college, and $200 for each successive year.

Roger will enter Indiana University in the fall, but has not decided what his major will be. He has been on the baseball team for four years, the basketball team two years, and is a member of the C Club. Roger has been active in the Future Teachers, the Latin Club, and the Student Council.

The first winner of the scholarship in 1962 was Keith Oppel of New Salisbury. Last year, Larry Miller was awarded the scholarship.

Topic: Trouble Spot

CCHS Represented By Richard Parker At World Affairs

Richard Parker represented Corydon at the Eighteenth Annual World Affairs Institute, March 20-21, held at Cincinnati. Over 1,000 delegates attended from four states — Ohio, Indiana, West Virginia, and Kentucky.

The theme of the Institute this year was Latin America. The delegates heard Dr. George Blankstein, Professor of Political Science at North Western University, speak on "Latin America: The Problems and Opportunities."

On Saturday morning, the General Session of the Institute heard a panel discussion on the United States Policy approaches.

This institute was sponsored jointly by Cincinnati Council on World Affairs, the Cincinnati Rotary, and the Crosley Broadcasting Corporation.

Richard and William Wibbels, a senior at Lanesville, were accompanied by Mr. Saulman.

SENIORS TAKE ACHIEVEMENT TESTS AT N. A.

Seven seniors went to New Albany on April 4 to take the English and government tests. Those taking the English were Billy Davis, Carolyn Gieseler, Philip Merk, Virginia Robertson, Mary Lou Seipel. James Anderson, Bill Mathers, and Richard Parker were those taking the government test.

Carol Pearson and Mary Lou Seipel took the U.S. History test on April 18. Jim Anderson and David Hottel took a math test on that date.

Students scoring high enough on the test will receive college credit in that subject. The government, U.S. History and mathematics tests were the new tests being given this year. English was given for the first time last year.

Scenes From Green Valley

The above picture shows the members of the GREEN VALLEY play cast rehearsing the lynching scene. The play Green Valley, a three act comedy - fantasy, was given by the Dramatics Club, April 17, at 8 p.m. Mrs. Margaret Elam directed the play. John David Daily is seen standing holding the rope, Roger Miller kneeling with the rope around his neck, and Richard Parker assisting. In the back, from the left, are Mike Gieseler, Delbert Hayden, Nita Burgette and Donna Schillmiller.

The picture on the right shows the boys of the GREEN VALLEY play cast carrying the six foot carrot and the potato that is as big as a bathtub that were grown in Green Valley. John David Daily is assisting Roger Miller carrying the giant potato. Delbert Hayden and Billy Blair are carrying the six foot carrot. Bill Lang and David Eastburn are watching.

OPINIONS

TO THE EDITOR

Why not abolish the prom? Yes, startled reader, that's what I said, abolish the prom! Every year it is the same: the aggressive juniors set about the task of selling candy or cards in order to earn enough money to finance the prom. Teachers and parents buy more than they can afford in order to contribute to the worthwhile project. Girls eagerly look forward to the glorious night when they will wear their pastel prom dresses, a new hair-do especially for the a new hair-do especially for the date they are hoping to have.

Hoping is right! It never seems to pass that stage. For some reason boys seem to fear that one date signifies going steady, future marriage vows, or just plain "being snagged" — they really flatter themselves!

What's the use of parents spending twenty or thirty dollars on their sons' and daughters' attire when they will attend the prom only to stand away from the dance floor? The boys congregate at one end of the room while the girls stand around feeling embarrassed, deserted, and unescorted. Every one seems to act as though dancing had gone out of style; here again, the boys apparently feel committed if they merely ask a girl to dance.

Maybe if we examine more closely the reason why the prom ends up like this someone will take the hint. Boys are afraid to ask girls for a date or to dance for one of three reasons: (1) they are afraid the girls will give a negative reply, (2) they are afraid of what their friends will say, or (3) they are going steady with someone else and it is therefore "illegal" to date anyone else. Last year out of about 250 juniors and seniors only about 30 actually had dates.

Hundreds of dollars are spent for the one - night occasion where almost everyone does nothing but stand around looking at everyone else.

Now that I have established my case, I would like to repeat "Why not abolish the prom?" — unless the juniors and seniors start taking advantage of the occasion and start enjoying themselves by having a good time. This does not include proposals of marriage but a simple date or dance!

Sincerely,
PROM CRUSADER

CCHS Accreditation
Has Been Renewed
By N. C. Association

Corydon Central High School has had its accreditation renewed without reservation by the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools.

In February of 1957 our school was first evaluated and accredited by the North Central Association, which is composed of more than 4000 secondary schools in the United States. We have kept our good standing with the Association by adding adult education classes, summer school, and a guidance department. Our athletic program has also been expanded to include football, golf, and baseball as well as track, basketball, and cross-country.

In order to keep up with current trends in education, several departments in the school have been modernized. The library now contains a vertical file and is the center for sales of a wide variety of paperback books. Among the newest additions to our curriculum are world geography, basic electricity, and other courses in industrial arts.

Students Use
Office Machinery

Students enrolled in clerical practice are able to make use of standard office machinery including an Underwood - Plivetti printing calculator, a Friden automatic rotary calculator, two Victor Ten Key automatic adding machines, three dictaphone and transcriber machines, an AB Dick Duplicator 220, a record player with Dictation Disks for shorthand speed building, and a mimeoscope for lettering and transcribing.

College preparatory courses, including an extra course in math, are being offered; in keeping with this, a two-diploma (academic and general) system has been instituted which includes curriculum requirements to coincide with students' needs in going into advanced education.

College courses taught by faculty members of Indiana University's Southeastern Campus have also been offered here. Employees of the Keller Manufacturing Company take these courses to receive college credit; the management feels that this helps employees in their work.

Pantherette Was Born In 1942

What was so great about the year 1942? Our history books tell us it was the eventful war-year that Anglo-American troops, under the command of General Dwight D. Eisenhower, landed in Africa and dealt a decisive blow to the Axis forces there.

But in the history of Corydon Central High School, this year marked another historic event: the Pantherette was born. Before that year, Corydon High School had another school paper, the Co-Hi-Soc.

Our school paper has gone through various changes in form, including mimeographing. Mrs. Gleitz, our librarian, who was the Pantherette's advisor during this period, recalls some of the hazards of our paper's earlier days of publication. It seems that the mimeograph machine with which the paper was then produced was not so dependable as machines used today. Quite often, she remembers, there was more printer's ink on herself and the students than on the printed page!

The first printed Pantherettes were much smaller than today's copies. They appeared bound in a cover, designed by Ted Mossler, with a Panther on the front. The

Society Rebels —
The Joke Is On Them!

Our present society demands rather strict conformity. A large minority of teenagers today are notorious for their rebellious attitude against society and conformation with adult-inspired social customs and laws. Young people object in great numbers to curfew laws, speedlimits and other traffic laws, dress lengths, courtesies to their superiors, and obedience to parental rules. It would seem that if a teenager objected as was described above, he would indeed be achieving his desire of nonconformity in the world and he would be different. He could gain the name of "rebel" or "hero" from his more timid friends. He would be a nonconformist.

But there is indeed a paradox in this feeling among young people. If a multitude of the teenagers strive so hard to be different, to be nonconformists, they will end up by conforming completely to the standards set by the "way out"

Is this not then a joke on the teenager? Is it not merely a question of which society he will conform to? Isn't it then a question whether he will become a member of the society to which his teachers and elders belong, or the coin-lipping street corner society of his contemporaries? Thus, in a two-society situation, a thinking teenager must choose. In making this decision, he should consider that in this craving to be different, he is merely a member of one or the other of the societies. His decision should include the thought that perhaps one society can offer him more material things in life.

So instead of merely considering that in order to be different he must defy teachers, parents, and the law, he should remember that he is also conforming to another set of standards when he becomes an example of a "way out" in his society. He is only making himself another conformist.

Financial Aid Available
To College Students

College Scholarship Service

"Like enrollments, annual college costs are rising steadily. In 1962 the average total cost for tuition, fees, and room and board at public colleges was $2000; the range was from $800 to $3700. At private colleges the average was $2400; the range was from $1150 to $5800."

"In some colleges, tuition has risen as much as 10 percent in a single year. Possible increases during your college years should be taken into consideration in your plans for financing your education."

"Other costs you will need to consider . . . can add up to a major expense—several hundred dollars a year . . . among these are books and supplies; laboratory fees; toilet articles and similar incidentals; recreation; laundry and dry cleaning; membership in clubs or other campus organizations; and travel to and from campus."

"If financing your education is a problem for you, you will need to look carefully at all possible sources of aid."

"The first source of financial aid to evaluate is your family, including yourself . . . (also) cooperative work-study plans in which classroom work is integrated with practical work experience . . . self-help plans whereby students fill various unskilled and semiskilled jobs in the college and the town . . . a job on or off campus."

present style and size emerged with the October issue of 1946.

The Pantherette published monthly, is now produced by members of the journalism class. Formerly, however, articles which appeared in it were contributed by students in the English IV classes; and at one time, student staff members could work on the paper only during their lunch hour and after school hours, because no regular class period was set aside for journalism.

Look at this issue of your paper. Try to imagine how it looked a few years ago when it was a column less in width and barely eleven inches long, printed on the texture of paper now used by the Corydon Democrat and Corydon Republican. Examine the paper as

"Awards from private scholarship funds—especially those sponsored by clubs, trade unions, fraternal groups, and religious organizations—are often restricted to applicants who have some relationship to the organization or its purposes . . . Other private funds are . . . available to a wide range of applicants. Service-club scholarships offer the best example of this kind of financial aid."

"Government Sources: The largest fund is the one established under the National Defense Education Act of 1958. This act authorized student loans, which are administered entirely by the colleges, up to $1,000 a year, with a maximum of $5,000 a loan from this fund is to be paid back beginning in the year after the borrower completes his education, at an interest rate of 3 per cent a year. A student who becomes a teacher in a public elementary or secondary school can have ten per cent of the loan canceled for each year of teaching, up to a maximum of 50 per cent."

"State scholarship and loan programs are another form of financial assistance. Requirements vary from state to state, as do the administrative organizations responsible for operating such programs. In some states these programs are operated by the state department of education; in others, by special scholarship commissions."

it appears today, and you'll find it's five columns wide by approximately seventeen inches long and printed on slick paper.

Imagine even further how it might have looked when mimeographed and you'll have some idea of the changes that have been made in the Pantherette over the years. But the Pantherette remains today, as it was in 1942 and even before then, as with the Co-Hi-Soc—the school paper of the students at Corydon Central High.

Now you are a student here, automatically the Pantherette becomes your paper. The stories in it are written about you and your fellow students, and the staff invites you to express your opinion in the Letters to the Editor column.

Sshh! This Is A Secret!

There are a lot of things wrong with this paper and we know it. There isn't any gossip and hardly any jokes. It's expensive to print and we use a good grade of paper, thus, it costs you more. We print a lot of editorials on cheating; so many, we've heard, that you don't even bother to read them any more. The paper doesn't come out often enough, and when it finally does, the ink is wet. There aren't enough pictures. There isn't enough student opinion in the paper. There are a few mistakes in spelling and names. And so on.

Maybe all these faults are true, but we'd only like to point out one thing. Have you ever noticed, if a student is absent or skips home room on Friday when the paper comes out, how fast he makes it up to 204 to get his copy?

& Trust Company, The Corydon Democrat, the Whiteley Poultry Processing Plant, the Corydon Crushed Stone & Lime Company, and the Keller Manufacturing Company, the group ate lunch in the Fellowship Hall of the Corydon Christian Church. The tour, which was sponsored by The Corydon Democrat in cooperation with the firms visited, ended with visits to the Eureka Telephone Company, Albin Jewelers, and the Harrison County Court House.

Feller Elected Late FBIA Officer

Linda Feller, a junior, was elected the second vice-president of Indiana Future Business Leaders of America. Linda was elected and installed at the FBIA State Convention, held at Ball State Teachers College on April 10 - 11. Lin-gargay's main duties will be those of announcing and carrying on the 1965 late Convention.

The Corydon Chapter also won an attendance certificate. They are the most represented club on the longest distance. Twenty-four girls and Mrs. Phyllis Wolfe attended the convention.

Cynthia Forsythe, Janice Wright and Phyllis McMonigle came in 1st in the spelling contest. They are competing against nineteen other schools in the state.

Each chapter represented at the state Convention has two delegates. Judy Timberlake and Janice Mauck were the delegates from Corydon. The club left for Muncie at 11:30 on Friday morning. Each member attending the convention was required to have earned 45 points during the year by some commercial endeavor. Some students have been doing typing and clerical work in order to earn points.

Highlights of the convention were a talent show and campaign speeches on Friday night. The spelling contest, elections, and the state banquet were features of the program for Saturday.

Natl. FHA Week Celebrated Here

Over one-half million Future Homemakers of America in states throughout the nation observe National FHA Week April 5 to 11.

The Corydon Elm Chapter FHA celebrated FHA Week in the following manner: Sunday they donated flowers to the Old Capitol Rest Home, Monday Freda Clements explained the meaning and goals of the FHA over the intercom, Tuesday posters were displayed at the high school and downtown, Wednesday there will be displayed in the showcase a Bible and church scene emblem with a red rose symbol, Thursday, a tea for the teachers, and Friday the girls will wear red and white name tags to promote FHA.

Mrs. Patricia Ludlow is the Corydon Elm Chapter FHA sponsor.

The Future Homemakers of America are home economics students in junior and senior high schools. Members of this national youth organization, now in its 19th year, work toward the overall goal of helping individuals improve personal, family, and community living.

A national program of work guides the activities of individual members and chapters. Projects on this year's programs are (1) You and your values; (2) Focus on family friendship; (3) Marriage calls for preparation; (4) Stay in school; (5) Action for citizenship.

Those commenting on the current projects said that preparation for marriage and stay-in-school activities have great appeal to members at this time. Surveys and interviews with marriage counselors and other adult advisers, and with couples who married while still in their teens, have directed attention to programs discouraging early marriage. Stay-in-school campaigns proclaiming that "drop outs are left-outs" to actual adoption and support of needy teenagers who would otherwise be forced to leave school.

FHA is sponsored by the Home Economics Education Branch of the U. S. Office of Education and the American Home Economics Association.

Marilyn Brewster In Typewriting Contest

Marilyn Brewster represented the school in the annual Kentucky Typewriting Contest sponsored by Spencerian College, Louisville, Kentucky, on April 18. In the contest she competed with other seniors for either a typewriter or a savings bond.

SALE OF CCHS PINS IS Y-TEEN PROJECT

Mrs. Russell McDougal, the Chief Consultant for the Indiana Project of the Y-Teens visited CCHS April 1. She spoke with several Y-Teen members and Mrs. Reimold, the Y-Teen sponsor, concerning various activities conducted by the Y-Teens throughout the year.

The Y-Teens have been busy this month. They sold school pins to earn money. The pins, one, gold with the CCHS initials and numeral guard; the other, black and gold with CC initials on a shield and the guard with numerals placed upon a torch. They are appropriate for both boys and girls. All classes were permitted to order pins because the pins were school order and not club pins. They earned $16 from the sale of the pins.

"Firebug" Is Y-Teen Skit
A one-act comedy was presented before the Y-Teens on April 8. The skit was entitled "Firebug". The comedy revolved around Crissy Davis who played Mrs. Barnes, the grandmother, and Mrs. McGal, the cleaning lady, portrayed by Jane Douglas. Cynthia Miles who played the part of Mrs. Barnes' granddaughter, Darlene, was suspected of dating an arsonist. Her constant denial of his guilt was finally proved when the culprit, a "fishbowl" was discovered. It seemed that in every home in which a fire had started, the family had been the unfortunate owners of fishbowls. The fishbowls, acted as a magnifying glass and thus, created the fires.

Others who participated in the play were Eileen Stilger, Janet Scott and Suzette Enlow.
