"Meet Mr. Banjo" Is Jan. 6 Program Student Council Announces Rules For Activities

"Meet Mr. Banjo" will be presented before the faculty and student body on January 6. Gene Straub stars in the program along with his sidekick banjo-playing dummy, Texas Pete.

The program includes melodies in a wide range of classical, dance music, country and folk music, and unique imitations, with tonal effects achieved with the Scottish bagpipe, Chinese music, clock, train, two-banjo, and electronic effects.

Mr. Straub assisted in developing the first electronic banjo, which led indirectly to his inventing and building the mechanical banjo-playing dummy called "Texas Pete." Little Texas Pete makes an appearance in the program, actually playing harmony chords while Gene plays the melody, thus creating a novel duet.

Attending symphony concerts in Philadelphia prompted Mr. Straub to become interested in music at an early age. He attained his musical knowledge at the Chopourion School of Theory and Harmony in Philadelphia, studying such instruments as violin, piano, organ, and French horn, in order to receive a degree of musical perfection necessary for concert work.

Mr. Straub developed an interest in the banjo after hearing Professor Chopourion, the first banjoist to give concerts with the Philadelphia Concert. He studied classics such as Wagner's Tannhauser and Rienz Overtures and also Beethoven for performance on the banjo, and concertized in the Eastern States with success.

Booster Club Brings Santa Claus To Charlestown Game

The Booster Club presented a Christmas program December 13 at the Corydon-Charlestown basketball game. Accompanied by the band, the students in the Booster Club formed a candle and sang "Deck the Halls". Following the formation of the candle, a boot was made and Santa Claus arrived, being pulled by his little helpers, the Panther cheerleaders. The Booster Club welcomed Old Saint Nick by singing "Here Comes Santa Claus." After his arrival, Santa treated all the little children by distributing candy canes among them.

He has played many of the leading theaters from coast to coast.

The members of Student Council and their sponsor, Mr. Norman, have discussed with Principal E. O. Saulman the proper conduct that will be expected of students at dances, parties, and other social activities.

The following rules and regulations have been given to the student body:

Corydon Central High School and every other school in the world exists for the sole purpose of educating the young people of the community. Our school activities and studies are designed to give you a broad background of general knowledge.

To further broaden your experiences and to help you gain individual poise and manners, the school offers you opportunities for a variety of social activities. In order for these activities to be of the highest value and to be worthwhile, we expect your conduct to be such as to reflect the highest ethical character and moral conduct.

Quoting the Student Handbook:

1. Anyone wishing to attend a school function should arrive not more than one-half hour later than the announced starting time.
2. Once the pupil is in the building he may not leave the building until he is ready to go home. Once he leaves the building, he is expected to leave the grounds.
3. Anyone guilty of misconduct at school parties and dances will be barred from future events.

In addition to these three, the Student Council, after study and discussion, recommends the following:

1. Students are on their honor that there will be no vulgar displays in dancing.
2. Our social activities are for our students. Students from other schools and outsiders will not be allowed.
3. Proper dress shall be observed at all times. Casual clothing is out of place at a dance just as much as a formal is at a sock-hop. In other words, dress for the occasion.

Pearl On Athletic Council

Curtis Pearl has been appointed to represent the student body at the monthly meetings of the Athletic Council. This group, consisting of coaches from the high school, principals from New Middletown, the junior and senior highs, the superintendent, and one member of the school board, makes recommendations to the school board on any phase of the athletic program.

Carnations - Trendells At Holiday Dance

The Salem Youth Council and the Salem High School Band has announced a Holiday Dance to be held at the Salem Armory from 8:00 p.m. to midnight on Jan. 6.

The Carnations and the Trendells, two well-known bands from the Louisville area, will provide dance music. The Carnations have made several hit recordings, including their latest, "Funny-time." Admission to the dance will be $1.00 per person. Boys are asked to wear shirts and ties, and girls should dress appropriately. The dance will be chaperoned by the Salem Jaycees.

In an attempt to create a better inter-school relationship, the Council has invited East Washington and West Washington high schools, as well as all schools in the Mid-Southern Conference, including Corydon, to attend the dance.

D. Club Organizes Christmas Program

The Dramatics Club, under the supervision of their sponsor, Mrs. Elam, will have a combined Christmas program, December 20, at 2:30. The program will be presented by four departments, the Spanish, Latin, English, and music departments. Each department will have a separate program relating to the Christmas holiday.

The Latin department, under the direction of Mrs. Bruner, will present a Latin play entitled, "Frater Bestiarum", (Brother of the Beast). The plot of the play will be centered around young boys in a Middle Age cathedral school writing the Christmas story. The cast will consist of nine boys and an all girl choir.

The characterization of Charles Dickens' "Christmas Carol" will be given by the English department under the direction of Mrs. Askren. Mrs. Askren's Speech I class will present the play, with Elmer Meredith narrating.

The Spanish department, directed by Mr. Noe, will present a Spanish play entitled "El Portal de los Navarros". This play will be about a Spanish family getting ready for the Christmas holidays. Also there will be two Christmas selections, "Jingle Bells" and "Silent Night", sung in Spanish. Students from the Spanish II and both Spanish I classes will participate in the program.

Mr. Trueblood, the music instructor, will direct the band in playing various Christmas selections.

Freshmen Present Christmas Program For Women's Club

Mrs. Elam's Freshman English class presented a Christmas program December 13 to the Corydon Women's Club. A play, "A Christmas Miracle" was given with Mark Wiseman playing the part of a shoemaker and Steve Higginbotham playing the part of a child. The background for this play was furnished by a choral reading group made up of Judy Cato, Cheryl Haun, Sherry Shaffer, Delbert Hayden, John Mathews, Diane Albin, Sandra McHatten, William Blair, Norma Windell, John Martin, Steve Higginbotham, Dennis Stepro, Jim Hays, Mary Brockman, Kathy Kline, and Mark Wiseman. They were directed by Becky Webb and Nancy Timberlake.

The group read "Everywhere, Christmas" and "A Christmas Carol". They sang "Christmas Bells". Mary Brockman read Luke's Christmas story from the Bible — Luke 2:8-16.

Students Write Criswell

Many students here are still communicating with Robert Criswell, former World History teacher at CCHS. Mr. Criswell, who is now attending the Princeton Theological Seminary in New Jersey, would appreciate hearing from any former students or friends. Anyone wishing to write to him should write to: Robert Criswell, Box 69, Rocky Hills, New Jersey.

Superintendent Schneider Lists Procedure For School Closing Due To Emergencies, Heavy Snow

Superintendent E. F. Schneider has made the following announcement to the teachers, and parents of students in the Central School Corporation concerning school procedure on emergency days.

In case of a heavy snow or other emergency when safety becomes a distinct problem, the following procedure should be followed:

1. The maintenance engineer, Herman Kost, or a bus driver should notify the superintendent concerning road conditions at the earliest possible hour.
2. The superintendent, with the advice of bus drivers and principals, will make the decision concerning the closing of schools. Occasionally, the bus routes may be safe with the exception of one or two. In such cases school will be in session. The bus driver or drivers in such cases will make the decision with the safety of his pupils in mind. (Schools will not be closed except when conditions make the transportation of pupils a definite risk.)

3. The superintendent will notify the following in the order named.
 - a. Bus drivers
 - b. Principals
 - c. W.A.V.E. radio and T.V. in Louisville
4. The principals will notify the teaching and non-teaching personnel in their buildings.
5. Parents and pupils should listen to W.A.V.E. radio or T.V. if conditions are hazardous.
6. In order for the superintendent and principals to be able to call out and notify bus drivers and teachers it is urged that parents and pupils contact their bus driver if they are unable to hear the news on radio or T.V. (If no mention on radio or T.V. is made concerning the closing of schools in the Central School Corporation, pupils should consider the schools open.)

Guidance Department Adds College Previewer

Mr. Norman, guidance counselor has announced that a sound film-strip projector kit designed especially for needs of guidance counselors in college orientation has arrived and will be used with the seniors who are college-bound.

The College Previewer was created by the Guidance Association at the specific request of guidance personnel throughout the country.

The programs are produced in cooperation with leading American colleges or universities. Each presents, far better than any college catalog or brochure could do, the essence and character of an outstanding institution.

From the moment the students sit down to learn from one of these extraordinary programs, they will be transported right "on campus" through the combination of high-fidelity sound and striking color photography.

While each program seeks to capture aspects of the college which are significant and different from other colleges, each program also represents a family of colleges. For example, from the list of colleges, you can select a small mid-western liberal arts college, a university, an Ivy League College, an engineering institution, and a private girls college.

Not only do students have an opportunity to become acquainted with the physical, educational, and social aspects of each college, but through a series of brief but illuminating interviews, you will have a rare opportunity to meet with both typical students and representative faculty members as well.

Films In Local Library

We have at the present time films and records on the following topics: You and Your College Boards, Freshman Year at College, The Liberal Arts College, The Urban University, School of Engineering, Butler, and a record on How to Finance a College Education.

All seniors who are planning for college and all juniors who are beginning to consider possible colleges are encouraged to make an appointment with Mr. Norman to come to the guidance room out of their study hall period and make use of the College Previewer.

The machine is equipped with four headphones in order not to disturb anyone else.

Vision Should Live On

"Let the word go forth from this time and place to friend and foe alike that the torch has been passed to a new generation of Americans—born in this century, tempered by a hard and bitter peace, proud of their ancient heritage, and unwilling to witness or permit the slow undoing of those human rights to which this nation has always been committed and to which we are committed today at home and around the world.

"Let every nation know, whether it wishes us well or ill, that we shall pay any price, bear any burden, meet any hardship, support any friend, oppose any foe to assure the survival and the success of liberty." (From the Inaugural Address)

The torch had been passed to a new generation of Americans—to John Fitzgerald Kennedy. Under his leadership, we did pay the price. We bore the burden and met the hardships. We supported our friends and opposed our foe. We assured the survival and success of liberty. We drove the Russians out of Cuba. We stood firm at Berlin. We made many domestic strides in many fields. Our country was continuing to prove its position of leadership in the world. This clear and confident picture was completely changed on Friday, November 22, in Dallas, Texas, when a man took it upon himself to murder our leader. We, as modern Americans, had looked on in disdain and disgust as the leaders of South American countries were murdered by barbarous methods. We felt an odd security that this sort of thing would never happen in the United States.

When the words — President Assassinated! — flashed across the nation, the people reeled in shock and disbelief. They went to church to pray. No words could describe the sight of flags at half-mast. About to enter the festive seasons of Thanksgiving and Christmas, the nation instead entered a black period of mourning. The weather on Friday, grey and rainy, caused many to murmur, "God is angry." A small part of each of us died on Monday when little John saluted his father's casket as a brave soldier would. It was just too much.

A New York columnist wrote "As if a bullet were ever a solution to anything—". Not quite two thousand years ago a people tried to stifle a man's ideals by killing the man. It didn't work. With history as a teacher, we should see then that John F. Kennedy's death will not mean an end to what he said or what he stood for.

"Your old men shall dream dreams. Your young men shall see visions, and where there is not vision, the people perish."

If John F. Kennedy's spirit can live on in our lives as a vision, we shall not perish. We shall "run and not be weary," we shall "walk and not faint".

Our Yuletide Customs Have Foreign Origins

Have you ever wondered where we got some of our Christmas customs? We know it is customary to exchange gifts, decorate our homes with sprigs of mistletoe and holly, and of course, to have a Christmas tree of pine or cedar decorated with lights and ornaments, but how did these customs originate?

Mistletoe was a plant regarded as a symbol of future peace and hope by the Druids in 1752. When ever enemies met under it they would drop their arms, forget their enmities, and embrace. It is believed that the custom of kissing under the mistletoe grew from this ancient practice.

The first Christmas tree is believed to be of German origin and made its first authentic showing in 1605. The tradition however, is believed to have begun when Martin Luther, in a previous century, took an evergreen tree home to his children and decorated it for Christmas, thus introducing the custom.

The lights on the tree represent Christ as the light of the world. This tradition also began with Martin Luther. On his way home on Christmas Eve, he was filled with wonder at the beauty of the stars and tried to describe the scene to his wife. Unable to express his emotions in words, he went out and brought a fir-tree, lighted small candles and placed them upon branches to represent the glory and beauty of the stars above Bethlehem on the night of Christ's birth.

Santa Claus is derived from the German legend of St. Nicholas who lived in the fourth century. St. Nicholas learned that three young women had no suitors because their father was too poor to provide them with a dowry. So one night he filled three bags of gold and threw them into the windows of the rooms of the young women and soon they were happily married. Unexpected gifts were thereafter said to come from St. Nicholas.

The myth that Santa Claus descends the chimney to find stockings comes from the Norsemen. The legend is that at the winter solstice, the goddess Hertha appeared in the fireplaces in their great halls and brought with her happiness and good fortune. Here, also, began the hanging of stockings at Christmas.

Corydon Central High School
Corydon, Indiana
December 20, 1963

Dear Santa,

The students at CCHS realize that we haven't been the best student body this year, but we feel that we are improving. We all hope that you will take time out from your busy schedule to bring us these small gifts.

Mrs. Cato would like a course to be given on, "The Operation of the Office Machines." She suggests that the first student be Mr. Elliot. He still hasn't learned how to use the mimeograph machine. "Rots of Ruck" to the teachers.

Santa, Virginia Robertson would like a government book entitled, "The Difference Between Indiana and Kentucky State Government." She seems to think that "Ned" Breathitt is the governor of Indiana—Poor girl—.

Please bring Fred Schuppert a "little black book" so he can keep track of which girl he's going with.

Please bring Bill Mathers a bright red racing helmet to go with his new Sting Ray.

Sandy Wallot wants a Daily kiss for Christmas (John David Daily).

Sandy Yeager is looking for a "Day" to come over Dec. 31 to take her out. A Larry Day would do super.

Alice Harrell would like a pet for Christmas, preferably a "Bob Cat" (Bobby Cochran).

Sharon Wallot doesn't want a puppy for Christmas; she would like a Wolfe instead. (Dumont Wolfe)

Pul-leeze, Santa! The students who have classes in room 205 want the clock in that room to be put in working order. Their nerves are under a terrible strain, 'cause they can't tell when the bell is going to ring.

The top "I Want" item on all the senior English students' Christmas lists is an automatic term paper machine.

The Spanish II class would like you to bring Alice Barks a red pencil so she can be sure and get every little mistake marked.

Ann Pinaire doesn't want a cold Christmas, she wants a "Hot" one. David Hottell, that is.

Please, Santa, bring Fred Tindall a watch for Christmas so he won't have to strain his neck to see what time it is in last period U. S. history class.

Please, Santa, bring Mr. Saulman a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year. The life of a principal is not always so merry and happy.

Roger Luther and Max Brown would like an eight gauge shotgun shell for Christmas. They have never seen one, but they have heard about one on WAKY and their curiosity is getting the best of them.

Frank Sandullo wants tomato aspic removed from the cafeteria menu for the rest of the year.

Santa, please bring an extra dose of humility for the Panther basketball players so they won't become big-headed and lose their luck.

Santa, please bring Libby Fredrick some paperback books, so she won't spend all her money buying them from Mrs. Gleitz.

Panthers Tame Fighting Tigers

An inspired North Central team gave the Corydon Panthers all they could handle as the Panthers finally won out 61 - 51 for their 6th straight victory.

Wolfe, playing one of his best games of the season, lead all scorers with 7 field goals and 5 free throws for 19 points.

The first quarter was a low scoring affair with North Central grabbing an 8-7 lead. The second quarter was a see-saw battle with the Panthers holding a 20-18 lead at the end of the half.

The scoring finally opened up in the third period with Corydon making 22 points and North Central throwing in 18 points.

With 1:28 showing on the clock, North Central made its bid for victory by pulling to within 4 points of the Cats. At this point, Wolfe took over making three fielders including a spectacular lay-up and a free throw.

Wolfe was aided by Jack Fried who had 13 points and 17 rebounds. Phil Merk, H. V. Withers, and Roger Jenkins added 10, 10, and 9 points respectively.

The Tigers were led by Lynn Davidson with 15 points who had four field goals and seven free throws. Paul Robertson had 14 points to take runner-up honors for the Tigers.

Corydon's record is now 6 and 0. North Central now has a 3 and 2 record.

Coach John Miller's Cubs rolled to their fifth straight win by plastering North Central J. V.'s 71-51. Freshmen lead the Cubs with 21 points. He was aided by Butt and Cochran who made 13 and 12 points. Emily was the whole show for the losers by throwing in 16 points.
