Monday Is Deadline For Tourney Tickets

Monday, Feb. 24 at 4:30 p.m. is the deadline for Panther fans of Corydon Central High School to pick up and pay for their tickets for the Sectional basketball tourney that have been ordered. After that time the tickets, not claimed, will be returned to Salem. Price of the tickets for all sessions Feb. 26, 27, 28 and 29 is $2.50. Tickets are still available in the Principal's office, phone REdwood 8-0885. Single session tickets may be purchased at the door, price 75c.

Parking Information

Fans will enter the door that is listed on their tickets. Parking will be available on the north side of the Salem High School and on both sides of the street. Officials will be present to direct the parking.

Official cars will be marked with windshield stickers and will park on the west side of the building.

Fan Information

Use of mechanical noise makers will be prohibited. The first team named in each game throughout the tournament is designated as the Home Team. Banners and posters objectionable to wording or obstructing the view are not allowed.

Tourney Winner

The tourney winner will receive the Sectional Trophy presented by the Indiana High School Athletic Association. The winner may also take the nets and ball—a ladder will be furnished.

Students Apply For Membership On Summer Team

All baseball players who wish to play on the Raiders (Summer High School Baseball Team) this summer, please turn your name, address, phone number and birthdate into Mr. Saulman as soon as you can. This is for those who will be in high school next year only. Applications to include this year's graduates (1964).

This year we are going to join the Association here in Southern Indiana. It is urgent that Coach Miles has a list of players soon so that it can be established that they have enough to enter the league.

If you don't intend to practice or are not willing to sacrifice, don't waste your time filling in an application. On the other hand, if you have plenty of interest and are willing to sacrifice, the team can use you.

Application blanks may be picked up at the office. All who have summer jobs can still play baseball, with a few alterations, in regards to practice. All games are on Sunday, and practice sessions can be set up in order to work in everyone.

Remember Fans! Sectional tickets must be picked up before Monday, February 24, in the principal's office. No season tickets will be available after this time since they will be returned to Salem.

Dropout Problem Surveyed By Supt. Schneider

Although drop-outs have become a nation-wide problem in high schools, Corydon Central has probably not suffered from this situation as have many schools in the country, particularly those in the larger cities.

However, students and parents should be alerted to the fact that education will be the prime source of their lives in the future. A dropout often cites many reasons for leaving school: teachers are "against him," the classes are dull, and slow learning ability causes feelings of inferiority.

In a survey made recently by Superintendent of Schools, E. F. Schneider, the following facts concerning this year's graduating class (from August 1960 to February 10, 1964) were revealed: Out of the 173 students who enrolled here in the fall of 1960 a total of 140 are now eligible to graduate in May of 1964. Among the 29 drop-outs we have had, eleven have transferred to other high schools; however, the class has had seven members join them from other schools. Therefore the net loss figures thirty-three.

The following is a brief analysis of the 29 Drop-outs:

Intelligence quotient: Above 110, 3; 90 - 110, 14; below 90, 11.

Reasons for drop-out: Lack of interest, 6; lack of ability, 8; marriage, 12, normal and pregnancy; ill, 2; socially maladjusted, 3.

Sex of dropouts: Girls, 14; Boys, 15.

Reasons for drop-outs:

Girls: Lack of interest, 0; lack of ability, 0; marriage, 12; ill, 2; law violation, 0.

Boys: Lack of interest, 6; lack of ability, 8; marriage, 0; ill, 0; law violation, 3.

Conclusion:

Most of the girls who dropped out of school, did so because they wanted to get married.

Most of the boys dropped out of school because of lack of interest or because of lack of ability. The boys listed as having a lack of ability all scored below 75 on intelligence tests. (Below 70 I.Q. is commonly called the trainable range.)

College Entrance Exam To Be Given Here Dec. 5

Corydon Central High School has been asked by the College Entrance Examination Board to be a testing center for the Scholastic Aptitude Tests to be given next December 5.

These tests will be given five times throughout December and January at other testing centers. Students taking the test on December 5 will form the largest of the five college-bound groups. Most students choose this early date either because they seek early admission to college or because they wish to take the test more than once.

One of the requirements of the Board is that each testing center must be able to provide a proctor (faculty supervisor) for each 50 students taking the exam. On this basis, our school would be able to take care of approximately 200 students.

Corydon will receive nationwide recognition if our school is selected as a testing center. A notice of our selection will be included in a national bulletin to be published in June.

Official Emblem Adopted By School

The school emblem, designed especially for Corydon Central High School by the Balfour Company and their representative, Rex Moonshower of Bloomington, has been officially adopted by the school.

As may be noted, the crossed torches at the top of the emblem just over the word Corydon are symbolic of the light of learning. Under the name is the panther, mascot of the school. The four emblems on the shield in the center are the clasped hands, symbolic of friendship; the winged foot, representing athletics; the Old State Capitol Building, culture; and the lyre, symbolic of the arts. The shield is surrounded by the laurel leaves, a mark of distinction.

This emblem will first be used on the invitations of the 1964 graduating class. In the future it will be official also on class rings, pins, charms and for various other recognitions.

Mr. Moonshower presented three designs for consideration and after discussing them with Mrs. Jones, chairman of the senior sponsors, and Mr. Saulman, principal of the school, made minor changes in the drawings. The three were submitted to the student committee for their selection.

The committee was composed of officers from all four classes, members of the Student Council, and of the National Honor Society.

Askren's Flute Solo And Clarinet Sextet Win Firsts In State

Kay Askren and a clarinet sextet consisting of Teresa Norman, Sandra Rhodes, Bill Mathers, Sandra Cunningham, Sarah Pindell, and Carol Miller, won first in the State Music Contest at Butler University February 15.

Kay won with her flute solo "Passacalle" by Baton Kay, who takes lessons from Francis Fuge, first flutist in the Louisville Orchestra, received a special compliment from her judge who wrote on her score sheet, "I have listened to 60 flute solos and you are the only one who has good musical phrasing." The clarinet sextet won their superior rating playing "Lullaby for an E Flat Clarinet."

From Hanover College District Solo and Ensemble Contest, thirty-one CCHS musicians brought back five first division ratings and two second division ratings from the contest held January 25.

Hanover Contest Results

First winners at Hanover who were not eligible to go to the state were a sax quartet, Deanna Miller, Diana Gibson, Mary K. Hall, Linda Kirkham; a trombone solo, Dennis Stepro; and a contrabass clarinet solo, Carol Miller. Dennis Stepro received a perfect score of 7 from judge Walter Hall of Lexington, Kentucky.

Excellent ratings were awarded to two trumpet trios—Larry Day, Halleck Mathews, and Eddie Paterson; and Neal Knight, Harold Hall and Halleck Mathews.

Barbara Hays and Diana Gibson entered the Evansville Piano and Vocal Contest February 1. Both girls played the piano, and Barbara won a superior rating, and Diana, an excellent rating. Barbara, who studies piano from her grandmother,

Medicare Is Topic Of Club Debates

Robert Benton and Terry Walts, both juniors, matched their wits against senior Richard Parker and junior Pat Moss during an assembly program February 19.

Richard and Pat debated the affirmative side on the topic, "Resolved: That the Federal Government Should Provide a System of Complete Medical Care for All Citizens." Terry and Bob took the negative.

Scottsburg vs. Locals

The CCHS Debate Team met Scottsburg in a debate here, February 20.

The members from CCHS who participated were Robert Benton, Terry Walts, John Martin, Elizabeth Ward, Linda Schwartz, Jenny Kirkham, Richard Parker, and Pat Moss.

The students debated the national topic of a federal system of medical care.

Several debates took place at the same time in different rooms. In order for the teams to be well prepared, each team knew before the debate which side it would take. However, in formal debates, the teams draw immediately prior to the debate to see which side they will be on. This calls for additional preparation in order for the student to be familiar with both the affirmative and the negative.

Mrs. C. Blaine Hays, Sr., played "Fantasia in D Minor" by Mozart. She has won two excellent ratings in past Evansville contests. Diana, a former student of Mrs. Georgia Vogt, played the "Warsaw Concerto" by Adensel. This was Diana's first visit to the Evansville contest.

Parker To Attend World Institute

Richard Parker, president of the senior class and a member of the debate team, has been chosen as a delegate to the World Affairs Institute at Cincinnati, March 20 and 21. William Wibbels, a senior from Lanesville high school, is the other delegate from Harrison County. Mr. Saulman will accompany the boys to Cincinnati.

The purpose of the Institute is to inform the young citizens of world affairs which involve the ideals of our nation. The topic for this year is "The United States and Latin America in This Era of Cold War." The opening address Friday evening will deal with this topic and it will be discussed at a round table discussion on Saturday morning.

The Institute has been co-sponsored since 1947 by the Rotary Club of Cincinnati in cooperation with the International Service Committees of other Rotary Clubs. The Corydon Rotary Club has been sponsoring delegates to the institute since 1952.

OPINIONS

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

STATE OF INDIANA
Office of the Governor
Indianapolis

11 February 1964
To the High School Graduate

Congratulations and best wishes for your future. You will soon finish your high school education and now new opportunities and new decisions await you. Should you go on to college... or should you enter the labor market permanently now? The answer to these questions will affect your entire working life.

So consider the facts. Do not decide in haste. Remember, we live in a technological age of new industries demanding higher skills. Often a college education is required for some of the better jobs with a good future.

In this connection, there may be many young people who want to go on to college but are unable to without the financial help of summer or part-time jobs. If this applies to you, the Indiana State Employment Service may be able to help. Employment Service offices throughout the state are asking employers in their areas to list job orders for summer and part-time employees. If you want such employment, register now with the Employment Service office nearest you. There is no charge; the Employment Service is operated by the State as a convenience for all residents.

For high school graduates who plan to enter the labor market permanently there is even a greater urgency to utilize the counseling, testing, and placement services of the Indiana State Employment Service. Employment specialists in the office will help you determine your aptitudes and the occupations to which they may apply.

This past year alone the Indiana State Employment Service found jobs for several thousand high school graduates seeking permanent employment and for students needing summer jobs. These young men and women were placed in a variety of job openings such as sales clerks, typists, construction workers, camp counselors, life guards, resort waitresses, and bus boys.

Many of you high school graduates may have the necessary aptitudes and interests to explore the possibilities of apprenticeship training in the trades and crafts. The Employment Service encourages employers to provide in-plant training for high school graduates and others wherever possible.

Though there is widespread demand for scientists and other professional workers, we cannot over-stress the importance of other fields of work. Young people with adequate training to carry out the many occupational tasks necessary to our interdependent and very complex industrial society make an equally valuable and vital contribution. Whatever your choice of occupation, you have my sincere good wishes for a happy and successful career.

Sincerely yours,
MATTHEW E. WELSH
Governor

Dear Editor:

Upon opening one of my second semester textbooks, I was confronted with the battle of distinguishing the printed text from the pen-written names. I find it hard to read about American government when all I see is "Pam", "Shirley", Larry, or Phil. It seems to me that this annoying habit of pupils to autograph and thus perpetuate their names in books is

Nancy Keller Does Research On Hobby

EDITOR NOTE:

Nancy Keller, a great lover of horses, recently had the following letter appear in a national "The Thoroughbred Record" magazine.

Nancy, a sophomore, should be congratulated on this research and on the honor of having her letter published.

Corydon, Indiana

Sirs:

I read Greentree Stud's January 11 advertisement with great interest. I believe that Corydon was named after Corydon, Indiana.

Mrs. Payne Whitney, one of the cofounders of Greentree Stud, was a daughter of John Hay, whose family came from here.

Also, the name of Corydon's dam Sylvan Song, suggests Corydon, Indiana. The town received its name from a song. When William Henry Harrison decided to found a town here, his mind immediately recalled a song sung by Jennie Smith, who lived on a farm south of town. At that time (1808) Corydon was composed of a few log houses carved out of the wilderness. Hence the idea of "Sylvan Song."

When the horse Corydon broke his leg on June 22, 1950, the breed lost a valuable sire prospect. He was beautifully bred, but he never got a chance at stud. He certainly was sound to be able to race that long. Soundness is something we can sure use. I feel that the number of starts a horse makes should be limited, for two hundred and eighty-three are too many. Corydon started almost three times as much as Exterminator did. We sure lost quite a horse!

Sincerely,
NANCY KELLER

Dr. Byron Laird Is Guest Of F.T.A.

Dr. Byron Laird, the Director of the Southeastern Center of Indiana University and Assistant Dean, was the guest speaker of the Future Teachers of America, February 18. Dr. Laird and a freshman from the Southeastern Center, Sharon Ashton, conducted a discussion on "What is expected of the student as a freshman?" Sharon was a graduate of South Central High School and graduated valedictorian in 1963. The transition of the high school student into the college atmosphere was discussed. Other topics and questions involved the courses required of all students who graduate with a degree and the courses required to be a teacher. The advantages and disadvantages of the different levels of teaching were discussed.

The Future Teachers will present a play for the classroom teachers meeting March 9. Phil Ritz, Nita Burgette, David Miller, Ronnie Kellum, Randy Burger, Kay Mitchell, Shirley Dodds, Suzanne Windell, William Lang, Barbara Pfeiffer, Darlene Bentley, Margaret Meyers, Carol Cunningham, Clara Curtis, Barbara Hoback, Linda Feller, Eldon Mason, Curtis Pearl, and Phyllis McMonigle will participate in the play for this meeting.

childish. I am not criticizing the helpful notes jotted down in a book. I find writing lecture notes in the margins useful, but I see no use of names on every page and arrows pointing to pictures. The student who writes his or his friend's name should consider the fact that the book does not belong to him. He should also remember that other pupils will use the book. With each new renter, the book receives additional names. After several owners, the book is sufficiently filled. When the last pupil uses the book he will have no room to write his own name in the book.

A BOOK SAVER

Beatlemania Sweeps The U.S.

Our country is in danger! No, it isn't the hydrogen or atomic bomb. It isn't the rise of another Hitler or Khrushchév. It isn't a strike or a boycott. It's the Beatles! Yes, once again, tragedy strikes the peaceful world, still rocking slightly from the sway of Presley's guitar, this time in the form of "so-called" rock and roll singers. It is true they are from England, but already America is rocking with transmitted sound waves trembling from the swish of the Beatles hair.

The extremism of the Beatles may be shown by their Buster Brown hair style which supposedly symbolizes the "Gorgeous George" singers as rock and roll stars. Already the radio stations and television sets are bursting out their romantic sounds—"I Want To Hold Your Hand" and "I Want To Be Your Lovin' Man." Perhaps this form of romanticism is a sneak preview of what lies ahead in the field of entertainment for the 20th century.

The manufacturers have gone berserk. The English singing "idols" have enabled them to produce "Beatle T-Shirts, Beatle Nightgowns, Beatle Sweat Shirts, and lastly, Beatle Wigs." Soon they will be making "Beatle Dolls" to accompany Barbie and Ken to the Prom.

Last year the girl's latest fad included fashionable wigs and bows. Now the boys too are permitted to look as "attractive" as the girls with the aid of a Beatle wig. Maybe soon the Beatles will adorn their hair with bows, thus enabling the rest of American and English boys to do the same. Anyway, much masculinity lies ahead. (For the girls!)

Assemblies Feature Dancers, Musicians

Los Malerbas presents the Gypsy Flamencos at the assembly on March 3. Co-starring with the Flamencos will be Alfredo Otero.

Los Malerbas offers a variety program of colorful, exciting authentic Flamenco dances of Spain with vocal and instrumental accompaniment. Their fast stomping feet dancing to the accompaniment of the Native Guitar and rapidly clicking castanets leave an unforgettable impression on their audience. The vocal soloist presents songs from Spain, Mexico, Cuba, Venezuela, Columbia and Argentine showing the cultural influence of Spain on these countries.

Their explanations of the dances and of the different dance forms help the audience to better understand and enjoy the performance. Because of the gorgeous costumes and the gracefulness and dexterity of the talented young dancers, this program is a delight to watch.

Musician Appears Mar. 25

Vic Hyde, America's musical phenomenon, will appear here March 25. Mr. Hyde is the performing example of the show business rule, "leave 'em laughing." But more than that, Mr. Hyde leaves 'em inspired and educated. Every one, even the accomplished musician, can learn something from this marvelous man who has won the hearts of millions around the world—including the Queen of England.

Mr. Hyde owns and plays 65 different instruments. He has toured Europe, Sweden, Germany, Denmark, France, England, and 12 other countries including Cuba. He has been featured with 23 name bands including Ted Heath, Woody Herman, Lawrence Welk, and Guy Lombardo. Not only does Mr. Hyde play entertaining music, but he also demonstrates the more serious aspect of music education.

Advanced Education Plan Proposed By NEA

"Increasing the quality and availability of our education is vital to both our national security and our domestic well being. A free nation can rise no higher than the standard of excellence set in its schools and colleges" —John F. Kennedy.

These words from our late President express the wide-spread concern in America that has been promoted by the growing number of students seeking entrance to college—and the fact that there are not enough classrooms for all these students.

In seeking a solution to this problem, a committee of educators sponsored by the National Education Association has made the following suggestions:

"Universal free schooling on the college level should be made available for at least two years beyond high school."

"Everyone with a high school diploma—regardless of scholastic standing—should be given an opportunity to take the two years of free advanced study."

"Though vocational courses might be included in the suggested program, its chief purpose should be to further the individual knowledge of the world in which we live."

Funds for this proposed program would have to come from all levels of government—federal, state, and local. But there are questions which must be answered before the plan can be adopted:

Should all students who have completed high school be allowed to participate, or should only high-ranking students be admitted?

Would the federal government be able to contribute funds to the program? At the present, it is already faced with the problems of underpaid teachers and inadequate classrooms on the high school and elementary levels. Congress has been opposed to any such federal aid to states, who must deal with these problems directly.

Whether or not this plan should be put into effect concerns every young person in the United States as well as their parents and grandparents; because, if it is adopted, these are the students who will be attending the advanced courses, and it is their parents and grandparents who will pay the taxes to finance the program.

Students Discuss NEA College Program

As part of their study of current events, Mr. Bickel's senior students were asked to write their comments on the proposed NEA plan for two free years of college-level courses.

Several students had definite views on which students should be admitted to the advanced classes. Jack Fried says, "I disagree with the idea that this education should be free to all or just to the high per cent in the high school class. I think some sort of an entrance exam should be given with a certain standard grade to be made for entrance into the advanced schooling."

"There is also a great need for the average citizen to be informed on the ideas that keep the free world alive," Barbara Hays asserts. Agreeing with Barbara, Judy Timberlake reasons that, "Average students who are willing to study and really want to obtain a good education will profit as much as choice (or A) students from this program."

In considering the plight of scholastically low-ranking students David Thornton asks, "If only the high scholastic students were allowed to enroll in the school where would the other lower students be?" The lower also should have a chance to learn some skill through this course after high school.

Richard Parker, however, brings up the point that "If a student is going to benefit from this added education, he will have to have obtained an adequate background in high school."

Libby Frederick agrees in part with Richard. "Any student intelligent enough and mature enough to decide he wants to go to college, should have enough ability and ambition to gain from high school the knowledge which is needed to enter college."

Marjorie Ann Flora opposes adoption of the plan for financial reasons because "To start the NEA proposal in the near future would be like putting the cart before the horse. We would surely backslide into debt because we would still be faced with inadequate classroom facilities in elementary and high schools, insufficient teachers' pay, and drop outs."

"If they can get a bill passed to build this free college, why can't they get one passed to give more teachers and classrooms?" Ralph Timberlake asks. Ronnie Kirkham feels as Ralph does. "If we can't afford to pay our own public teachers, how can we start a free advanced education program?"

Linda Schwartz points out why today's students should be particularly concerned with this plan. "The NEA feels that federal, state, and local governments will contribute enough to put this plan into effect. But we, as future taxpayers have a question: Will not this mean an increase in taxes?"

Bonnie Kitterman and David Hotel both expressed their viewpoints on the possible courses to be offered. David feels that "The program should be mainly vocational training. I say this because how many people who are just earning barely enough money to live on are going to school to learn natural sciences when what they need is training for a better job?"

Bonnie adds, "Some boys and girls just begin to realize their junior and senior years that there were several subjects they had been liked to study but do not have enough time left to fit them into their course of study. If they were allowed two extra years of schooling tuition free they would be able to take a lot of these subjects."

Betty Alcorn supports the plan, saying, "It will encourage more students to advance their education if they know that they won't have to put out a lot of expenses."

But senior Phil Ritz points out one of the possible pitfalls of the plan because "Many students would go an extra two years only to postpone having to serve Uncle Sam in one of our armed service branches"

FBLA WILL BE HOST TO BUSINESS WOMEN

Mr. Green, guidance counselor of Sullivan Business College spoke on February 13 to the Future Business Leaders. His topic was the advantage of seeking employment with a business college certificate over a high school diploma.

On February 24, the FBLA will be the host to the Business Professional Women. A program is planned for this meeting. Vickie Montgomery will welcome the guests; Judy Timberlake will give a description of the FBLA. A description of the state convention will be given by Wanda Sonner. A summary of the projects performed by the club will be given by Linnea Dean. A play will be presented for the entertainment of the group. The play cast includes Chris Pearl, Ralph Timberlake, Ruby Feller, Judy Timberlake, Janice Wright, Shirley Hoehn, Margaret Ledford, Sandra Fisher, Phyllis McMonigle. The bulletin board committee for this program are Sandra Mann, Linda Cline, Janet Conrad and Cynthia Forythe.

Mr. Earl Miller, the president of the Corydon State Bank, will speak February 27, on the services of the bank.

Students Take Typing Tests

Student Typewriting Tests sponsored by the United Business Education Association, a department of the NEA, were given to the Intermediate and Advanced Typing classes. The purpose of these tests is to measure the achievement of students at the end of each semester of typing. Pins and certificates were awarded on the basis of Minimum Productive Rates, the amount of typed work one can produce per minute. Marilyn Brewster was the only one in the intermediate Typing class that earned a bronze pin for 38 Minimum Productive Rates. In the advanced class the following qualified: Betty Alcorn, Brenda Brecken, Wanda Stevens, Judy Timberlake. These students earned bronze pins for 32 MPR and Sandra Wall earned a silver pin for 49MPR. At the end of the semester in advanced typing, Sandra Wallot qualified for a gold pin at 57 MPR, which is very good. She ranked in the 90th percentile according to the National Norms. Evangeline Franz qualified for a bronze pin at 47 MPR. In the intermediate class, Marilyn Brewster again was the only one to qualify. She qualified at 44 MPR to earn a silver pin.

Physics Classes Tour Power Plant

The Juniors and Seniors enrolled in the physics classes were among nearly 1,000 Indiana high school pupils who toured the utility's Gallagher Station in New Albany. These students saw how their electric power is generated on tours of five Public Service Company Power plants.

The tour was conducted on Science Youth Day, Tuesday, Feb. 11, which marked the 117th anniversary of the birth of Thomas Alva Edison, father of the electric industry.

Corydon Interviewers Invade Louisville

Barbara Godby, Naomi Pitman, Wanda Sonner, and Sandra Rhoades will "invade" Louisville Feb. 22. The girls, as well as other members of Mrs. Wolfe's clerical practice classes are required to interview people outside Corydon who are connected with the girl's choice of a future profession. The interviews will include various business firms, beauty colleges, and business executives.

Kay Askren Makes T. V. Appearance

Kay Askren, a senior, and Billy Doolittle, who was a freshman here last year, and are members of the Louisville Youth Orchestra, made their second appearance on the local television show High Varieties, February 8. They played "Pop Medley" and "American Salute" which is based on "Johnny Comes Marching Home Again." Kay plays the flute and Billy the French horn. Besides playing in Louisville, the group has played in Harrodsburg and Danville, Kentucky.

There are 135 members in the orchestra and it consists of members from the sixth grade through high school. It is divided into two divisions: A, the advanced group of which Kay and Billy are members, and B, which is composed of the less advanced group that require more training.

Mr. Sher Rubin, a resident of New Albany who teaches at Hazelwood Jr. High, is the head conductor of the orchestra.

Sidney Harth, the famous world-wide musician will conduct the youth orchestra at Atherton High School in Louisville on March 29, Easter Sunday at 3:00 p.m. Anyone wishing to attend the concert should contact Kay Askren. The price of the tickets is one dollar.

Evansville College Is Host To Seniors

Evansville College was host to nine CCHS seniors Feb. 12. Those who visited the campus were Shirley Dadds, Darryl Hauswald, Clara Curtis, Barbara Kemp, Carol Cunningham, Margaret Brown, Patricia Deatrick, Nita Burgette, and Sandra Kaegin. Mr. Saulman and Mr. Norman accompanied the group to Evansville.

The seniors were permitted to visit two classes and were also taken on a tour of the campus. They were shown the new cafeteria that is being built which will include a bowling alley and other various amusements.

Mr. Thornton Patberg, Director of Admissions, counceled each student individually concerning their college careers. He explained to the group about the National Defense Student Loan and other useful information about their college future.

The tour ended with the group attending the Evansville-DePauw basketball game at Roberts Municipal Stadium.

Future Nurse Realizes "Point" Of Med. Profession

"Please, don't anyone touch my arms!" This plea may be heard coming from a senior, Donna Schillmiller. Donna recently received four shots in her right arm and a blood test and shot in the left arm. She plans to attend St. Joseph's School of Nursing in Louisville this fall and has had to undergo a rigorous routine of playing "pin-cushion" in order to be immunized against various diseases.

Future Nurses Consider Joining National League

The Future Nurses Club has been very active lately. The club has seen a film on alcoholism and two on mental illness. Members of the club ordered their pins—a diamond-shaped bar with a caduceus on it. It has a chain with a small guard pin bearing the year of graduation and the initials of the school.

Virginia Robertson, president, has received literature about the club joining the national league for nursing. A committee will be appointed to write a constitution.

At the February 27 meeting, Miss Huber, the public health nurse, spoke on the three different programs for nursing, the hospital plan, the college plan, and the two year plan.

Other topics to be discussed in future meetings are army, navy, and air force nursing and other medical professions for women.

PANTHERS SUSTAIN TWO, 2 POINT CONFERENCE LOSSES

Paoli, 75 - 73

Paoli derailed the Corydon express 75-73 at Paoli on Phil Baker's jump shot with 6 seconds remaining. This loss dropped the Panthers Midsouthern Conference record to 6-1 and their overall record to 15-2.

Jenkins Hot

The Panthers jumped to an early 25-21 first quarter lead behind a 10 point effort of junior Roger Jenkins.

By using a press and some hot shooting the Panthers pushed their lead to a ten point bulge 47-37 at the intermission.

In the second half it was all Paoli as they hit for 38 points while holding the Panthers to a 26 point total. Only three players, Davis, Wolfe, and Cato, were able to score for Corydon.

In the third quarter Paoli managed to trim Corydon's lead to 5 points, 61-56. Joe Cato lead the Cats in the third quarter by making 4 fielders.

The fourth quarter was nip and tuck all the way as Corydon's Davis and Wolfe traded baskets with Paoli's Frank and Baker. The score was tied 73 all as Baker of Paoli hit the final basket with 6 seconds left.

One bright spot for Corydon, despite the loss, was continued hot shot shooting of senior Bill "Swish" Davis.

The winners were lead by Holland and Walls, who had 22 and 16 points apiece. They were supported by Rooksby and Baker with 12 and 10 respectively.

Corydon again had balanced scoring as Cato was high with 20; Wolfe, 15; Withers, 13; Jenkins, 12, and Davis, 10.

CUBS BEATEN TOO

In the preliminary game the Cubs were downed 67-52 by a very strong Paoli J.V. team. Paoli jumped to a quick 22-16 first quarter lead and held it throughout the game. The scores at the other stops were 38-24, 51-30, and 67-52 when ended. Bob Cochran was high point man for the Cubs with 22 points. Game honors, however, went to Daugherty of Paoli with 25 markers. Daugherty was aided by Magher and Vance with 12 points each.

Austin, 65 - 63

Host Austin lead by Charlie Brandenburg's 25 points handed Corydon a 65-63 defeat for the Panthers' 3rd loss of the season and their second defeat in Conference play.

With all the starters scoring the Eagles raced to a 6 point advantage by taking a 22-16 first quarter lead.

Behind Cato's and Jenkins' 8 and 6 points the Panthers scored 26 points in the 2nd period and roared into a 42-39 half time lead.

The third quarter proved to be Corydon's downfall as the Panther scoring attack could muster only 3 field goals. The Cats' defense kept Austin from running away with the game as they held their opponents to 13 points to make the third quarter score 52-48.

Early in the fourth quarter Austin took an 8 point lead only to watch the Panthers pressing defense whittle the lead away. With 2 seconds remaining and 2 points behind the Panthers had 2 chances to tie the score but both shots failed.

Corydon scored 4 more field goals than Austin but the Eagles outscored the Cats by 10 from the charity stripe which proved to be the difference.

The Panthers also lost the battle of the boards by a 45-31 margin.

H. V. Withers lead the Panthers with 20 points. He was supported by Joe Cato and Jack Fried with 15 and 13 points respectively. Brandenburg, Rigdon, and Baker lead the winners with 25, 14, and 14 points.

The Panthers' next test is with a tough Mitchell team February 21 at Corydon. The winner is assured of a tie for the loop title.

CUBS WIN

The Cubs kept the night from being a total loss by defeating the Eaglets 45-42. Corydon, with balanced scoring, took a slim 11-8 first quarter lead. During the second period Austin outscored the Cubs 11-14 to knot the score 22 all at the half. The Cubs came back to grab a 37-36 third quarter lead. The teams stayed on almost even terms during the fourth quarter. Bob Cochran once again lead the Cubs, compiling 16 points. Helton lead the losers with 15.

South Central Crushed By Record Breaking Cats

The Corydon Panthers smashed the South Central Rebels 109-68 for a new Corydon scoring record at South Central Friday, February 7.

The Rebels first quarter man defense proved ineffective against the superior Corydon team as the Panthers racked up a 33-11 lead.

Davis Leads Assault

Davis lead the Panther assault the second period by throwing in 8 points while the Cats increased their halftime lead to 56-23.

Century Express Rolls

The high point of the second half was when Jim Mathews made a twisting lay-up with 2:48 left for the Panthers' 100th point. After this the Panthers scored 9 more to make the final score 109-68.

Jack Fried and Roger Jenkins lead the Corydon Century Express with 22 and 21 points. They were supported by H. V. Withers and "Swish" Davis who had 17 and 15 points, respectively.

The only South Central player in double figures was David Merk who captured high game honors with 27 points.

The Corydon Panthers maintained their perfect 6-0 slate in the Mid - Southern Conference by squeezing past the Salem Lions 69-65 at the Panthers' home court on January 24. This victory enabled Corydon to run its record to 15 wins and one loss.

Balanced scoring was the big key for the Panthers as all five starters scored in double figures and Corydon's lone substitute, Bill "Swish" Davis, meshed four points. H. V. Withers lead the Panthers with 17 points; next was Jack Fried with 14; Joe Cato had 12; Dumont Wolfe scored 11; and Jenkins had 10. Fried and Jenkins handled the rebounding duties for the Panthers as Fried got 16 and Jenkins pulled down 11.

Salem's Larry Blevens, who played his first game of the year, took game honors with 24 points. He was supported by Ratts and Smith who had 14 and 10 respectively.

The Corydon Freshman was whinned by the Clarksville Freshman 49-35 at Clarksville February 3. Scott lead Corydon with 10 points and 21 rebounds. He was supported by Wiseman and Beal who had 8 and 7 points respectively. Franklin was high for the winners with 14.

tively. In the first quarter with Withers scoring 7 points, the Panthers registered 13 points while holding Salem to only 6 points.

Salem got its offense rolling in the 2nd quarter and threw in 20 points. With 4 minutes remaining in the 1st half, Corydon's Davis swished 2 long shots to enable the home team to hold a 28-26 intermission lead.

Corydon had their best offensive quarter in the third, as they got 23 points; but, also their worst defensive quarter as they allowed Salem 24 points. Duke Wolfe, the New Middletown Bomber, and Roger Jenkins paced the Cato-men with 8 and 7 points this quarter.

Fried and Cato finished off the Lions by drilling in 7 and 6 points in the last stanza to make the final score 69-65.

CUBS SHINE

Coach John Miller's Cubs won their eighth game against seven setbacks by running over the Salem J.V.'s 68-47. The Cubs took the lead early and led at all the steps 13-8, 28-18, 48-27, and 68-47. Scott lead Corydon with 10 points and 13 rebounds. He was supported by Wiseman and Beal who had 8 and 7 points respectively. Landis led Salem with 10 points, with Thompson and Brown adding 8 each.

FRESHMAN TEAM — Kneeling: Mark Wiseman, Mike Miles, Kerry Timberlake. Standing: Coach Ray Noe, Ireland Scott, Billy Baelz, Johnny Jackson, Lester Rhoades.
