Mathes To Attend World Institute

Jim Mathes will attend the Twentieth Annual World Affairs Institute in Cincinnati, March 18 and 19 sponsored by the Rotary Club. Jim was chosen the delegate when he made the highest grade on a World Affairs Exam taken by seniors interested in attending the Institute.

"India and Pakistan — And Long Range United States Interests" will be the subject of the 1966 meeting, Friday evening's address, by a leading American scholar on South Asia, will describe the progress and problems of India and Pakistan during the recent years, current relations between them and will indicate briefly major United States policy issues.

On Saturday morning, American panelists from the fields of diplomacy, business and education, and diplomats from India and Pakistan will explore domestic and foreign policy issues for each of these countries, as well as developments in relations between them, and will clarify alternatives which the United States faces in its relations with India and Pakistan.

A well-known United States political figure will speak at the Saturday luncheon on the topic of the Institute, drawing upon his own study and experience.

Also attending the Institute will be Kathy Settle from North Central High School. The delegates will be accompanied by Mr. Saulman, principal of Corydon Central High School.

Rotary Club Is Sponsor

The Corydon Rotary Club will sponsor the delegates. Each year the local club sends one delegate from Corydon Central and then rotates with a delegate from the other high schools in Harrison County. The delegates will come from public and parochial schools throughout Ohio, Indiana, Kentucky, and West Virginia.

Linda Kirkham Is DAR Finalist

Linda Kirkham has been notified that she is one of the finalists in the State DAR Good Citizen Contest. The 13 finalists will be guests of the state committee at a luncheon to be held at Crawfordsville on April 2. Linda won the county contest held in November and her paper was sent on to state competition. She will be accompanied to Crawfordsville by Regent, Mrs. Jesse Smith, Good Citizens Committee chairman, Mrs. Emory Bruner of The Hoosier Elm Chapter DAR, and her mother, Mrs. Robert Kirkham.

Sectional Tickets Go On Sale Feb. 17

Tickets for the Salem Sectional to be played February 24 - 25 - 26 went on sale in the Principal's office of Corydon Central High School Thursday, Feb. 17, at 1:00 p.m. for season ticket holders and students.

Sale of tickets to non-ticket holders will start at 1:00 p.m. Friday. Sale of tickets will end 1:30 p.m. Wednesday, February 23.

Price of season tickets will be $2.50. Single session tickets will be $1.00 at the door only.

This year there has been a change in the schedule. Instead of holding the sectional on four nights, it will be over a period of only three nights and one afternoon.

SYMPATHY

The students and faculty of Corydon Central express their sympathy to sophomore Linda Stamper on the death of her father who was killed in Viet Nam.

Indiana History Published By 1947 Graduate

"Tales of Our Hoosier Heritage" by Arville Funk, a lawyer and historian and 1947 graduate of CCHS, is a new book on Indiana history. This book is now available for $1.50 and is highly recommended for Indiana students who would like to review some of the early history of Indiana especially during its "150" birthday.

The book is a compilation of articles which Mr. Funk has written after a number of years of looking into records of early Indiana life and government. All of the twenty-two articles in the book have appeared in Outdoor Indiana, magazine formerly published by the Indiana Department of Natural Resources.

"LaSalle In Indiana" is the first review in the book. "Little Turtle Of the Miamis", son of an active and famed Indian Chief, the topic of another article. Sergeant John George, who was "George Washington's Drummer Boy", is the hero of a story in the new book. "Tragedy At Pigeon Roost" is another intriguing and hair-raising story.

Of special interest to Harrison Countians is the story of "The Yellow Jackets March To Tippecanoe", in which Captain Spier Spencer, an ancestor of former Judges Thomas J. Wilson and Morris Wilson acquitted himself and his soldiers with honor at the terrific battle north of Lafayette.

Pictures of interest are found in the book, including a rare photo of Conrad's Old Capital Tavern, one mile east of Corydon on the site of the modern residence of Dr. and Mrs. Carl E. Dillman. It was here that the survivors of the Yellow Jackets were welcomed home in style by Harrison County citizens.

An "Indiana's First Capitol" photo adorns the story of "The Birth of Indiana 1816", along with a splendid picture of the 132-ft. spread Constitution Elm.

Other chapters of Indiana history in the book include: "Indian Tragedy At Pendleton".

"The Tom Lincoln Hoosier Pioneers"; also "The Trial of Death", "The Old National Road" and "Forgotten Hoosier", Jacob Whetzel.

The Whitewater Canel, Old Vincennes State Bank, the historic Conner Prairie Farm, the "underground", "Railroad To Freedom", Camp Morton, The Great Escape From Libby Frison, McHarry's Tomb in Harrison County, Morgan's Raid, Hoosiers At Andersonville, Doctor Gatling And His Famous, and The Reno Gang are dealt with in other articles by historian Funk in the new book.

Elizabeth Ward, senior, has been named a semi-finalist in the State Commission Scholarship Program of Indiana and may receive up to $800. A letter of instructions was sent to Elizabeth explaining the procedures she must follow to remain in the competition.

Get The Spirit Come To Indiana's "150" Celebration

By MIKE SHIREMAN
The year of 1966 is Indiana's 150th birthday. Everyone will be busy running around collecting stamps, buttons, pins, and all sorts of souvenirs. I guess I'm no exception because as everyone knows it's in my blood. I have an ancestor who prides himself in the old historical facts of Southern Indiana. You might even call him a historian.

I'll be down at the post office in a couple of weeks ordering my steel engraved cachet. This is an envelope with a picture of the Old State Capital in contrast with the new State Capital in Indianapolis. Then on April 16, I'll run down to the post office once more to get it stamped and cancelled.

In the first week of May, when all the dogwood and redbud are in bloom I will venture into these sweet smelling woods and tour the historical territory of southern Indiana.

On June 1 the Lincoln Hills Arts and Crafts Gallery will open. This is a large display of oil paintings, sketches, and wood carvings.

The Pageant is the big thing of the summer season. It will open on June 23 when everyone will be celebrating Constitution Day. "Corydon, Cradle of Our Commonwealth" will run for at least six days. It was written by Mrs. Eleanor Long of Indiana University; the musical score was written by her husband Dr. Newell Long, professor of music at Indiana University. The Pageant will be directed by Tom Weatherston of the New Albany High School dramatics department. Mr. Weatherston will employ local talent to perform in the pageant. This is an excellent chance for a high school student to show himself off and at the same time participate in heritage of Corydon.

A historical parade will climax the saddle-sore 100 mile trail ride. In the parade there will be all the pagentry and beauty of the Rose Bowl Parade. It will be a step back into the 19th century.

The long gowns, the shining horses, the beautiful floats, will all be parading down the main streets of Corydon.

It looks like I'll have a busy summer trying to keep up with everything. I'm inviting all the students of CCHS to join with me in birthday party of Indiana which will begin in Corydon April 16.

"This Atomic World" Acquaints Students With Nuclear Energy

"This Atomic World", sponsored by the Atomic Energy Commission was presented Thursday, February 17. The program is designed to acquaint students with basic principles of nuclear energy, its sources and role in industry, agriculture and medicine.

Mr. Ed Miller presented the assembly program, which was broken down into a language that was simple to understand. Mr. Miller has completed extensive training at the Oak Ridge, Tennessee, facilities of Atomic Energy Commission. He is a graduate of Western Illinois University and holds a Bachelor of Science degree.

Specially designed electronic equipment was used during the 40-minute program to show such things as sources of radiation, how nuclear energy is harnessed to furnish electric power for cities, the use of radioisotopes to aid in diagnosis and treatment of disease, and to learn more about life processes.

A blackboard talk to science classes, which deals more specifically with such topics as atomic structure, radioactivity, radiation biology, and careers in nuclear science, followed the assembly.

The program is operated by the Oak Ridge Institute of Nuclear Studies, which handles the nationwide exhibits program for the atomic Energy Commission.

Honor Roll First Semester

It may be of interest to the students to note several items appearing on the Honor Roll this semester. The Sophomores lead with the largest number followed by the Freshmen, Seniors, and Juniors. Not one Senior boy made the Honor Roll and more names appeared on the general diploma than in previous years.

Industrial Arts Classes Visit Courier - Journal

Two groups of boys studying industrial arts have taken a day to tour the Courier-Journal and Louisville Times plant and also WHAS. The boys were accompanied by Mr. Broglin, industrial arts instructor.

A guided tour through the newspaper works showed the boys the

A Three Way Tug of War

Choosing a college is a three-party system, according to an article by David Klein in the February Seventeen. The three parties are the parent, the student, and the guidance counselor. The guidance counselor is specially trained to help the student choose a college. Parents, however, lack special training and may often be more of a hindrance than a help to the student.

Many parents want their son or daughter to go to a "prestige" school. However, a newer school might be just as good. A "prestige" school may also be beyond the academic capacity of the student.

Other parents fear that their child will be corrupted at school and insist on a compulsory chapel, non-coeducational college. They worry about such things as radicals, liquor, smoking, and drugs. They do not realize that a student who wants to live "dangerously" can do so anywhere, and the campuses of "swinging" colleges are often more educational.

Some parents still have school spirit and insist that their son or daughter go to their alma mater. They may not be aware how much their alma mater has changed. It may not have changed at all, which is worse in a world of constant change.

Parents may feel that a certain college may be too expensive. They reject it without investigation of the various scholarships, loans, and employment plans. Some students may be eligible for aid under Social Security.

Some mothers try to push their daughters into teachers college because they feel that teaching is the only career open to women. Many teachers colleges offer skimpy courses and second-rate facilities. Other mothers want their daughters to go to a school with a high ratio of men — that is, the ones she approves of.

A student may decide upon a "safe" school so that he will be sure of being admitted. Other students from low income families may choose a poorer school because they have a better chance of graduating. Statistics show that more students from higher income families complete college than students from lower income families.

A student may want to go to the school where all his friends are going. He is nervous about leaving home. He may also decide to go to a certain college because his steady plans to go there.

Other students choose a college strictly by the impression they get while visiting the campus. They do not evaluate the school on its academic standards but on its appearance.

Parents, however, can be more objective about the student's capabilities and interests than he himself can. They also control the purse strings. A guidance counselor is in a position to know about colleges in a relative way, but only in a relative way. But the final decision belongs to the student. Mr. Klein has reworded an old proverb: "You can lead a girl to Vassar but you can't make her think."

Parent, Student, Counselor Work To Evaluate Ind. College Prediction

Many Corydon Central Juniors and their parents are participating in an evaluation of the Manual of Freshman Class Profiles for Indiana Colleges. A program is now in its third year in Indiana.

The Manual of Freshman Class Profiles for Indiana Colleges has been prepared as part of the Indiana Prediction Study a project of the College Entrance Examination Board. Each of the 24 colleges participating in the study provided two kinds of data about students in its freshman class: 1) pre-admission data - high school rank and scores on the College Board's Scholastic Aptitude Test (SAT) — and, 2) freshman year data - academic performance during the freshman year. The high school grades and the SAT scores were evaluated, singly and in combination, to determine their relationship to grades achieved during the freshman year in college.

The information obtained in the individual college studies served as the basis for developing the material in this Manual - material that counselors and other secondary school personnel who have responsibility for counseling students about admission to college can use in estimating the probable academic performance of their students at any of the 24 Indiana colleges. Special supplementary score reports, both for the Preliminary Scholastic Aptitude Test (SAT) and the junior SAT, are provided to participating secondary schools in Indiana. These scores and high school record which the counselor and student can use with the Manual to help the student estimate his chances of success in college.

Each college prepared its own profile, combining the results of its prediction study relating to academic performance in college with information about its admission policies and practices. While a general format was followed in the preparation of each profile, the colleges exercise their discretion in developing the content and selecting the statistics for inclusion in the tables.

Common to the profiles of all colleges, however, is a section on estimating an individual student's grade average during the freshman year in college. The section on estimating grades gives the counselor a distinct advantage in helping students plan for college.

complete operations of gathering and assembling news. They saw the press rooms, main office for reporters, advertising department and the huge two-story presses that can use up a 5-mile roll of paper in 20 minutes and produce 70 papers a minute. They also saw the loading dock where the newspapers are rushed away to all points in Kentucky and southern Indiana.

After touring the Courier-Journal and Louisville Times, the boys were taken to the T.V. part of WHAS where Mr. Shea of the Public Relations Department told them about the growing demand for engineers and planners in the T.V. and radio business and the costs and expenses for running a T.V. station. For example, he said that a one-minute commercial on a national network cost $71,000. After he explained about T.V. station, he guided them to the set where technicians were getting ready for the Midday Roundup. This group saw the camera men getting the set ready and getting the cameras ready for the show. Mr. Shea tried to get them on the monitor, but at the moment the camera wasn't working, they didn't get to see themselves on T.V.

Alexa Clements Wins Homemaker Award

Alexa Clements has been named the winner of CCHS's 1966 Betty Crocker Homemaker of Tomorrow. She scored the highest on a test taken by the senior home economics students. Alexa is now able to compete for state and national honors.

The state's highest ranking girl will receive a $1,500 scholarship from General Mills, Inc., sponsor of the test. The state runner-up will be awarded a $500 educational grant. In addition, the school of the state winner will receive a set of the Encyclopedia Britannica.

Later this spring, all first place winners and their advisors from the fifty states and District of Columbia will meet for the naming of the Betty Crocker All-American Homemaker of Tomorrow.

Anderson Leads Math Discussion

POLYMINOES was the subject of a talk given by Lynn Anderson at a recent Math Club meeting. They are simply squares arranged in various and different combinations. Uses of polyminoes are in checker boards, dominoes, other games and puzzles. They are also used in determining the coloring of a map. It has been proved that any map of the U. S., Europe, Africa, etc., can be made by using only four colors and none of the same color bordering. However, this has never actually been done.

The Math Club is planning to buy membership pins this year.

Dennis Stepro, Anita Fisher Win At Hanover

Dennis Stepro, junior, playing "Blue Bells of Scotland" by Arthur Pryor, won a first place or superior rating at the District Solo Ensemble Contest at Hanover College Saturday, January 29, with a trombone solo. Dennis was entered in Class A which made him eligible to go to the State Contest at Butler University, February 19. Because of a change in the contest rules two years ago, only Class A first ratings are eligible to go the State Contest. All contestants must play a selection that is on a list made out by the Indiana Music Education Association. Director Tom Trueblood pointed out that this music is of college caliber which makes the State Contest a definite challenge to high school students.

Anita Fisher, junior and piano student of Miss Grace Sample, won a first place or superior rating at the Evansville Piano Vocal Contest Saturday, February 5. She played, "Fluttering Leaves," by Koelling in Class C.

Other band members that went to Hanover placed as follows: trumpet solo, Class C, 1st, Billy Goldman, piano by Ernestine Jones; clarinet solo, Class D, 1st San-

Personnel Manager Is Guest Speaker

ROBERT STEPRO, personnel manager of the Keller Manufacturing Company, was a guest speaker at the January meeting of the FBLA. Mr. Stepro talked on interviews and making applications for jobs.

A "Nut Sale" was held down town on February 12.

Becky Faith will be in charge of the spelling contest at the next meeting. The winner will represent the club at the Spelling Contest at the FBLA Convention in March.

Automation Training Speaker Gives Test

Mr. Clifford Bristow of the Automation Training Institute was the guest speaker of the clerical practice and secretarial training classes, Friday, February 11. Mr. Bristow spoke on the different kinds of training one may receive at the institute and the cost. He spoke on automotive accounting, data processing, and other areas in this field. After his talk he offered a test to students to see if they could qualify for the Institute. To qualify a student must make 85 per cent on the test.

Students who took the test are: Beverly Akers, Judy Fisher, Alma Engleman, Becky Faith, Betty Hoback, Alexa Clements, Claudia Tate and Diana Gibson.

"So You Want A First-Day Cancelation" . . . Of Indiana Commemorative Stamp!!

In answer to many requests for information as to how to get a first-day cover (cover is an envelope bearing the stamp being issued, canceled at the office of first-day sale on the date the stamp is first put on sale) Postmaster Walter H. Fried, outlines the procedure:

Pre-address the desired number of envelopes, do not affix a stamp, put an enclosure in it about post card thickness for stiffening the envelope so it will go through the canceling machine without damage. Enclose these envelopes in another envelope or parcel, address "Postmaster, First-Day Covers, Corydon, Indiana, 47112", and enclose remittance to cover the cost of the stamps you wish affixed. This should be done prior to first day of issue. Stamps will be put on at this office, canceled and dispatched to destination.

Some persons will want a specially printed envelope design (called a Casket) commemorating the event and use them for the mailing described above. These envelopes, it is understood, will be sold locally by the Stamp Committee of the Harrison County Sesquicentennial organization and will be available during the latter part of February.

Hunter-Sutherland Chosen Sweetheart King - Queen

Dianna Hunter was crowned Queen and Keith Sutherland was crowned King at the annual Future Farmers and Future Homemakers Sweetheart Dance held in the cafeteria on February 10. Dianna was chosen by the F.F.A., was crowned by the F.F.A. president Jim McGraw and presented a bouquet of the carnations. Keith, chosen by the F.F.A., was crowned by F.F.A. president Donna Fravel and presented a box of candy.

Dianna is a member of the junior class and Keith a member of the senior class.

Keith has been chapter reporter and treasurer. He was on the district soil judging team and attended the state F.F.A. convention at Purdue and the state F.F.A. camp. Refreshments consisting of punch, cookies, candy and nuts were served preceding the crowning of the king and queen. The cafeteria was decorated with red hearts and red and white streamers.

Riggle Leads Rams With 24 Points

The Corydon Panthers were handed a 55-39 defeat Friday night January 28, by the Paoli Rams. The opponents' drive was led by Mike Riggle with 24 points. However, neither team had a deciding edge until the final half.

Starting the Panther game were Butt, Scott, Hess, Kirkham, and Schneider. After the tip the Rams netted the first field goal. But during the first stanza, both Corydon and Paoli's shooting was slow. At the half the score was 28-23 Paoli. The Rams took off from there to make it 43-31 at the end of the third and 55-39 at the final buzzer.

AUSTIN DOWNED!

An inspired group of Corydon Panthers downed the snarling Austin Eagles 67-60 for their second Mid-Southern Conference victory.

In the first quarter of play it was nip-and-tuck and the lead switched hands several times and at the end of the first quarter the Eagles led 19-17.

In the second quarter the Panthers took the lead for good as they led at half time 33-29. In the third period it was all Corydon as the Panthers led by as much as 15 points, 48-33.

Bill Kirkham led the Panthers with 17 points, next was Schneider with 16 points; Hess drilled in 11 points.

Mike Bennett led in rebounding department with 11 and next was Scott with 5.

Raiders Win 77-49

One of Corydon's poorer games of the year came from the hands of the Morgan Raiders. Morgan came on red hot the first quarter with a sizzling 66%. The quarter score was 23-13, while at one time Morgan was leading 17-4. Corydon was trailing by only 10 points 36-26 with two minutes left in the second period but Morgan out-scored them 17-2 to take a 53-26 lead. As the Raiders romped on, they gained a 68-31 lead. Corydon cut their lead to 68-47 before the Raiders shifted to high gear and won 77-49.

The 6'3" pivot man Danny Monroe gained top honors with 20 points on 8 out of 17 from field, and 4 out of 6 free throws and 12 rebounds. Another top scorer was Eddie Hendricks with 15 points. Dave Hendricks was next with 14 points and 11 rebounds, next T. L. Compton with 10 points and followed up by Marv Trowbridge who tossed in 7 points and came off the boards with ten rebounds. Bill Kirkham led the Panthers with 18 points, 6 from the field and 6 from the charity line.

Salem Nips Slow Panthers

After a good start the Panthers seemed to fall apart and the Salem Lions went on to win 58-56. In the first half the Panthers blitzed the nets on 53.8 or 14 out of 26 shots. At half time Corydon was on top 33-27. The last time Corydon led was 45-44 when there was 4:33 remaining in the game. With 1 minute remaining the Panthers cut the lead to 57-56. Time ran out before the Panthers could score a basket to tie it 58-58. The Panthers are now 3-14 for the season.

Salem hit 24-55 shots for 44.4% shooting clip. The Lions grabbed 42 rebounds and made 16 errors.

The Panthers hit a cool 35-1% clip and snared 33 rebounds and miscued only 6 times.
