Mathews, Brockman To Attend Workshop

John Mathews, junior will attend the Editor's Workshop at the 20th annual High School Journalism Institute at Indiana University, July 10 - July 23.

Individual attention will be provided through conferences with the instructors.

Laboratory sessions will be divided on the basis of the enrollment of the school and the frequency and printing method of publication. All mimeographed papers will be treated in one section; offset and letterpress papers will be divided according to frequency — weekly, bi-weekly, and less frequently.

John will be sponsored by The Corydon Democrat.

Mary Brockman will also go to the workshop and attend for beginning photography if there is a vacancy in this option.

This course is for photographers who have less than one year's experience. The course will stress basic principles and practices with participating members planning, posing, and shooting story telling pictures.

OPINIONS

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Dear Editor,

During the past few weeks some of the seniors who have been studying existentialism, have learned that the decisions a man makes depends upon the course of his life.

This principal was first expressed and illustrated to the seniors in Gordon E. Bigelow's essay, "A Primer of Existentialism". One of the existentialist's favorite phrases is "existence before essence". This simply means that a man lives first and, from his experience with life, he reaches his essence, his wholeness and completeness.

The writer of the above article tells the graduating senior to first decide what his essence is and then begin living.

"The senior must decide what kind of person he will be". This statement is not an accurate interpretation of existentialism. Existentialists believe a man should be looked upon as an individual, unique and different from any other person; not as a "kind" of a person. An individual cannot be classed or typed as a "kind of person".

The "choices" of which existentialists speak and the "choices" of which the writer of accompanying article speak differ also. The existentialist wants a man to choose between recognizing himself as an individual or merely thinking of himself as a cog in the machinery of society. A man can choose the way in which he wishes to live or he can blindly accept every principal of ambition and success which society has worshipped for centuries.

The above writer calls upon each graduating senior to become an active cog in the machinery of society without giving the senior a chance to decide whether the machinery is as wholesome and wonderful as everyone would like to believe it is. Let's look at our wonderful machinery. A ghetto in Los Angeles ("The City of Angels"), erupted in a riot against the society which deprived its inhabitants of basic human rights. Soldiers are sent to Viet Nam to fight a war which politicians refuse to recognize when they run for office. (It's all right to send men to fight the enemy if no one declares war because it would be dangerous, embarrassing, and expensive to declare war on another country.)

Everyone will tell you a war is terrible and many times pointless, yet no one seems to believe our wonderful society with all its wonderful technological advances, is capable of finding a more sensible and less destructive method of settling differences between countries. A satellite was launched which is used to pinpoint places on the earth and which is a tremendous aid to transportation and mapmakers. However, this wonderful machine is also used by the armed forces to pinpoint places in the world when they use missiles against these places.

Perhaps it is impossible for a society to reach perfection, but I do believe the human race is capable of approaching a semblance to efficiency and sensibility, instead of the "Doomsday" of which many philosophers, including existentialists, believe the human race is headed for.

"The future belongs to your generation. Decisions now will affect your entire life. It's up to you."

Dear Editor:

During the past weeks some of the seniors have been studying existentialism. According to this philosophy, man can be free only if he makes his own choices. Every person has a right to make his own decisions, and the course of his life depends upon the decisions that he makes.

This aspect of existentialism concerns everyone, especially the high school senior. The senior must decide what kind of person he will be. He can become important by his own initiative or just let life carry him along. He can develop strong loyalties or have no ties at all. The choice is his.

The graduating senior must make his own decisions. He will soon be a member of society and will not have Mother around to help him and correct his mistakes. No one will be around to tell him how to behave. He can stay out all night if he wants to. Some will use their new-found freedom in this manner, but others will use it differently. The choice is for each individual, no matter what occupation he may choose.

The college student has a choice of whether he will try to stay in school or flunk out. Nobody will be around to make him study. If he does not put forth the right amount of effort, he will fail. A high school student cannot flunk out of school, but a college student can.

A person pursuing a career also has the choice of succeeding or failing. He can be industrious, prompt, and a hard worker, or he can be a poor worker.

The importance of making the right decision cannot be overemphasized. A person must decide what kind of individual at the start of his career. If he starts his adult life as a failure, he will find it increasingly hard to become a success. If a student drops out of high school or college, he will have a harder time getting the job he wants. If a worker is fired because of unsteadiness, he will have a hard time getting another job.

The future belongs to your generation. Decisions made now will affect your entire life. It's up to you.

"Another Senior" argues that "kinds" of people do not exist, because all people are individuals. But each person possesses some traits which makes him much like other individuals. No person is entirely an individual because he shares characteristics with others. When a group of people have many characteristics in common, they can be classified as a "kind", even though each person is an individual.

A person cannot decide to refuse society without becoming a hermit. No matter how he may feel about society, he is forced to participate by the government. Therefore his "choice" is not open to him.

Latin I and II classes are making an audio visual aid for next year's Latin I class. Students feel that this activity provides an excellent opportunity for review for themselves also since each student must do research on the mythological or historical character which he represents. After this each student wears the characteristic costume of his mythological person and has a slide made. Each Latin student had also written in simple Latin a description of the character he represents. This introduction is recorded on tape, which is to be played while the picture is on the screen.

Students and the characters they represent are: Roger Alexander, Jupiter, king of gods; Lonnie Cavins, Juno, queen of gods; Eileen Hall, Latona, mother of Apollo; Michael Monahan, Jars, god of war; Virginia Crecelius, Diana, sister of Apollo; John Eckart, Apollo, god of the sun; James Pfeiffer, Pluto, god of the underworld; Robert Rothrock, Aeolus, god of winds; Mario Sandullo, Mercury, god of messengers; Becky Weber, Venus, goddess of love; David Hunter, Cupid, god of love; Nancy Owen, Vesta, goddess of hearth; Steve Carver, Atlas, held the world on his shoulders; Victor Fleese, Charon, boatman of the River Styx; Janice Gettelfinger, Aurora, goddess of dawn; Rhonda Byerly, Dido, queen of Carthage; Barbara Lang, Helen of Troy, the face that launched a thousand ships; Larry Gleitz, Hercules, Greek warrior; Sam Eckart, Caesar, conquerer of Gaul; Wayne Hannel, Neptune, god of the sea; Mark Wiseman, Bacchus, god of the wine; Rebecca Brown, Persephone, wife of Pluto; Rosalyn Brown, Minerva, goddess of wisdom; Ardis Wiseman, Medea sorceress; and Kathy Mazuch, Ceres, goddess of grain and flowers.

Class Of 1966 In Review

The class of 1966 entered CCHS with 177 students enrolled making the total enrollment the school's highest.

Freshman Year

As freshmen, we were the first class to be freed from the frightful tradition of initiation which had been the curse of freshman classes for so many years. Hair cutting and lip-stick smearing were discarded and beanies were substituted as a more agreeable and a safer initiation. Even the peaceful methods, it was stated by the administration, would be done away with as the classes, both old and new, adjust to the situation.

Bill Fisher ran unopposed to become our class president. Kay Mitchell was elected vice-president and Teresa Norman was chosen secretary-treasurer.

CCHS was granted membership in the National Honor Society.

"Our Town" was the play given by the senior class, under the direction of Mrs. Elam. It was declared the best play ever given by CCHS.

Three new teachers joined the faculty in the fall of '62. Alice Bauser Eckart replaced Mr. Bruce Fell as new head of the art department. Mr. Robert Criswell took over the social studies classes formerly taught by Mrs. John Mosser, who retired. Mr. William Drake was employed as a physics and general math teacher. Mr. Drake did not replace anyone but was hired due to increased enrollment.

A new student joined our class in the fall of '62. Michael Miller came from Gary, Indiana.

Billy Doolittle, freshman member of the debate team, received a superior rating when the local team participated in the Indiana High School Conference on Public Affairs.

During the early months of the school a fad of epidemic proportions swept the female faction of the student body. The fad consisted of wearing wigs. The wigs were used as last minute cover-ups of droopy hairdos, and as glamorous morale boosters.

The student and faculty of CCHS collected $172.89 to be given to four members of the student body whose homes, with the entire contents, were completely destroyed by fire during the bitter cold of December 10 - 15. They were Linda and Joe Cavins, a sophomore and junior, Lonnie Snyder, a sophomore, and Joyce Meyer, a freshman.

The highlight of the Latin Club's Roman Banquet was the series of Olympic Games held in the gym. Mrs. Bruner supervised the games and Mrs. Elam and Mr. Reagan served as judges. The students dressed in Roman Costumes.

The Panthers captured the Holiday Tourney by defeating the Morgan Raiders 44 - 42. Austin and Shawswich also participated.

The home of Freda and Alexa Clements was destroyed by fire in the sub-zero weather of January.

Joe Elliot of Dallas, Texas, was signed as Corydon's first football coach in 40 years. He was to begin work August 1.

Sophomore Year

In the fall of 1963 our class had an enrollment of 162.

Class officers chosen for the year were: Bill Fisher, president; Karen Gresham, vice-president; and Kay Mitchell, secretary-treasurer.

Student Council representatives from the class were John Powell, Randy Leuty, Fred Watson, and Virginia Crosier.

The only sophomore who was a member of the Varsity cheerleaders was Connie Rainbolt.

Alice Harrell, Kay Mitchell, Sheila Timberlake and Sandy Yeager, all sophomores, were majorettes for '63 - '64.

For the first time in about 40 years, football became a regular sport of CCHS. Our class was well represented on the squad with the following boys: Nick Kintner, Randy Leuty, Marc Smith, Roger Mauck, Jim Mathes, and Joe Mattingly. Corydon's first game ended in a defeat to Bloomington by a score of 13 - 6.

Sophomore boys on the CCHS Basketball team were Bob Cochran, Harold Chumley, Tom Butt, and John Walter.

The Class of '66 enrolled as juniors with 165 members.

Bill Fisher was elected president for the third consecutive year with Karen Gresham as vice-president, and Diana Gibson as secretary-treasurer.

French was added to the curriculum and Miss Sally Harrison was the first French teacher. Six other new teachers joined the faculty that year: Miss Peggy Cunningham (commerce), Mrs. Eleanor DeFoor (Spanish), Mr. Al Belskus (commerce), Mr. Sam Lander (art), and Mr. Charles Phillips (World History). Mr. Joe Miles was promoted from assistant to head football coach after Mr. Elliott accepted a coaching position in Wisconsin.

Juniors Judy Fisher and Connie Rainbolt were elected varsity cheerleaders.

Class plays were discontinued and "Raisin In the Sun" was the first play presented by the Dramatics Club.

Pat Lawson was nominated to represent the Junior Class in the Homecoming Queen Contest, but was defeated by senior, Eileen Stilger.

A new language laboratory was installed to help in the teaching of foreign languages.

Actor James Best returned to Corydon and presented "An Evening With James Best" to help raise money for a new 16mm camera to be used by the football team.

"I Remember Mama" was the second play to be presented by the Drama Club. Mrs. Elam coached both plays.

Sandra Yeager, Alice Barks, Alice Harrell, Suzanne Windell and Kathy Wilson were chosen to represent Corydon at Girl's State.

Ronnie Kelleem attended Boy's State.

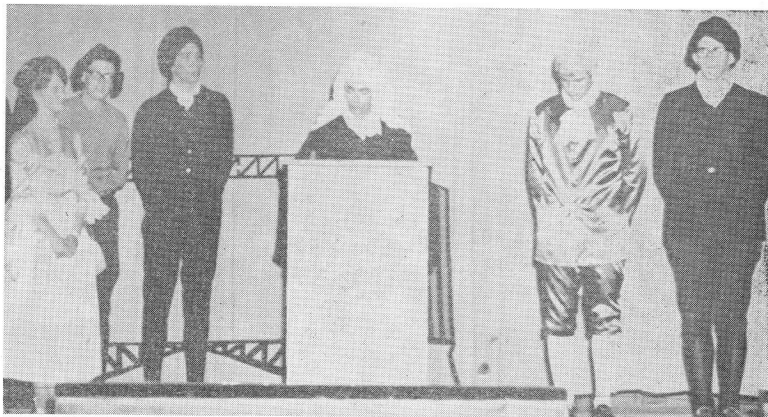

Kathy Wilson and Randy Leuty were elected prom queen and king. The prom was held in the gym. The theme was "An Evening in Paris." Attendants for the king and queen were Sheila Flanagan, Tim Kirkham, Kay Mitchell, Tom Butt, Pat Lawson, and Bill Fisher.

The year 1965 also marked the forty-first and final year of teaching math for Miss Mary Eskew as she retired after outstanding service. Mr. Kinsey Windell also retired after many years of teaching physics and chemistry. Mr. Ralph Cato retired as basketball coach to become a social-studies teacher.

Senior Year

The 1965-66 school year started with only 150 enrolled as seniors. Pictures were taken this year for the first time in color. In the past they had always been taken in black and white.

A new year always adds new faces to the faculty. Linda Wolin was the new physics, physical science, and chemistry teacher, John E. Wood was the new basketball coach, succeeding Ralph Cato who had had a tremendous record here. He also teaches phys. ed. and driver's education. His wife, Mrs. Sue Wood, replaced Mrs. Betty Byrd in girl's physical education. Sally Harrison, who resigned to marry, was replaced by Miss Annette Nolen in the French Dept. This was her first assignment after graduation from Evansville College. Mike C. Frederick, an alumnus of Corydon Central, was hired as assistant basketball coach and

"Tom Jones", one of the best dramatics productions ever presented by the Drama Club, was played before a sellout audience. A scene from

Mooresville Band Entertains CCHS

The Mooresville High School Band, under the direction of Mr. James Patchett, performed in concert before the student body and faculty as one of their stops on their tour of southern Indiana. Among the selections played were tunes from several Broadway Musicals. The dance band played casual tunes with a faint rock'n roll beat. Ten members of the band pantomimed The Tale of the Bremen Town Musicians to be background music supplied by the band. It is always a pleasure for the student body and faculty to see such entertaining performances.

math teacher. To replace Mrs. Ludlow in the Home Ec. Dept., was Miss Peggy Gibbs. Miss Suzanne Puryear replaces Miss DeFoor as teacher of Spanish, and also teaches English.

A new Student Council constitution was drawn up to replace the old one.

Eldon Mason and Nancy Keller were sent to the High School Journalism Institute at Indiana University for two weeks during the summer of '65. Nancy attended the editing workshop, and Eldon attended the newswriting workshop.

Kay Mitchell received recognition when she took up sky diving. Kathy Wilson was chosen as Drama Club President.

The Junior Class chose the Belle of Louisville as the scene for the Junior-Senior Prom.

Mike Shireman was elected Student Council President.

Linda Kirkham, President of the Senior Class, was chosen DAR good citizen. She went to state competition after placing first in the County competition.

"Heaven Can Wait" was the play given by the drama club. Senior members of the cast were Mike Shireman, Max Rusk, Randy Leuty, Tim Kirkham, and Teresa Norman.

Kathy Wilson was crowned basketball queen at CCHS's homecoming game with Charlestown. She was crowned by Roger Mauck, President of the C Club.

Jim Mathes attended the World Institute in Cincinnati.

The senior class operated the Radio Station WPDF for a full day in shifts of about 8 students in a shift.

Elizabeth Ward won an Indiana State Scholarship to attend Indiana University. The scholarship is to cover the '66 - '67 school year.

Roger Alexander and Ronnie Kelleem each won a $1,000 scholarship from Keller's Manufacturing Company. The boys were so evenly matched scholastically that two scholarships were given instead of the usual one. Roger plans to attend Purdue and Ronnie will enroll at Evansville College.

The second and last play given by the Dramatics Club was "Tom Jones". Both plays were directed by Mrs. Elam.

Fun Was Had By All Corydon - Clarksville Duel To 59 - 59 Tie

"Fun was had by all—by one who was there." This expression may be old and typically Harrison County, but it was never truer. Thirty-four students plus three teachers, Miss Nolen, Miss Puryear, and Mrs. Enlow attended the French Club picnic, held at Miles' farm north-east of Corydon, on Thursday, May 12.

Karen McCoy and Carol Miller led a wading party through the nice, warm spring branch. Burr!! that's the reason for all the sniffles heard Friday.

Then came the 'Egg throwing contest', splat, you're out! That's what was heard until Kris Kline and Don Harper emerged the winners; for you see the eggs weren't hard boiled. We had some pretty looking messes. (By the way, Mrs. Enlow came in fourth.)

If you lived through all the swashed eggs, you were in a potato duel. Then finally the best part, we ate. Miss Nolen was given a gift for sponsoring the club.

To digest our food we had a big soft-ball game. The life of the game was 'Mighty Moe Enlow' who sent two runners home, even though she did land on the ground once trying to smack the poor soft-ball.

If you think you have trouble with scavenger hunts, you really would have with this one; it was all in French. Mary Brockman, Mike Jones, Betty Martin and Alan Hess were the winning team on this.

To end up, we played more soft-ball.

Seriously, we want to express our thanks to all the Miles' for permitting us to have our picnic at their home. We all had a great time.

M-S-C Track Scores

Even though the Panther trackmen didn't win the MSC track meet they did a good seventh place by tying with Paoli with 15 points.

Corydon finished fourth in the high hurdles, with John Powell running it. Monty Schneider was beaten for the first time this season in the mile run by just three tenths of a second. In the 440 division Allan Hoskins took fourth in the first Division and Ireland Scott took third in the second division.

Tom Butt captured third place in the high jump. The Panther

Corydon and Clarksville duelled to a 59-59 tie in a track meet held on the Corydon track. Harold Chumley gathered the most points for Corydon with a first in the Long Jump, third in the Pole Vault, and anchor leg on the victorious 880 Relay team. Ireland Scott looked impressive in the 440 yard run again, coming from 5th place in the back-stretch to win by 10 yards in the good time of 55.5.

Monty Schneider stayed out of his specialty, the Mile Run, after his record smashing run in the Harrison County meet Tuesday night. He ran the 880 yard run in 2:04.5, which was just 1.5 seconds off the school record. Bob Wiseman, running the 2 mile run for the first time, beat one of the area's better 2 mile runners, Wayne Cox, of Clarksville in the time of 11:07.

Goofy Golf Featured At C-Club Picnic
